Democrats Confirm Governor's Hope to Boost Income Levy

Tax Slash Won't Boost Revenues, Proxmire Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's contention that his proposed tax cut would increase tax revenues was called "wholly unjustified" today by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

In a letter to Kennedy referring to an address by the President on Monday to a group of the American Bankers Association, Proxmire said:

"As a senator who sat through virtually every minute of hearings held by the Joint Economic Committee this year and listened to the testimony of the strongest administration supporters of your tax program, your statement that tax revenues will increase following your recommended tax cut seems to me to be wholly unjustified."

The total, long term effect of the tax cut on eventual revenues, Proxmire wrote, would be determined by how much the tax cut which initially reduces revenues, later may restore some of those lost revenues or even increase revenues by the stimulation it may bring to the economy.

To my knowledge," Proxmire said, "there is no evidence in the testimony of any witness before the Joint Economic Committee that the tax cut would actually increase revenues."

Even under the most favorable circumstances, with the tax cut stimulating the economy, a $10 billion, Proxmire said.

Brynes Criticizes Way In Which Increase in Debt Limit Was Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Brynes R-Green Bay, criticized at a hearing Wednesday the circumstances under which Kennedy administration spokesman sought an increase in the public debt ceiling.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and Budget Director Kermit Gordon told a House Committee that it was evident as long ago as last October that revenues would not come up to expectations.

Dillon said that Congress had voted additional expenditures before adjourning a month earlier.

Brynes senior Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee, said the circumstances "don't put you in a very good light. You did not put out revised estimates until after Congress had adjourned."

Publishers to Submit Report On Walkout

New York Mayor Studies Next Step In Controversy

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City newspaper publishers report formally in writing today to Mayor Robert F. Wagner on their position in the dispute which led to the 82-day-old blackout of the city's nine major dailies.

Wagner received a similar report Wednesday from Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union whose strike against four of the papers led to the blackout. Contents of the report were not made public.

At the publishers' request, Wagner postponed the time for their report until today.

Wagner—who may soon change his role from mediator to umpire and recommend a settlement for both sides—had asked for the reports from both sides.

17,000 Others Idled

He said his next step would depend on whether the reports "call for any further talks or not."

The strike by 3,000 printers has thrown 17,000 other newspaper employees out of their regular jobs.

In Cleveland where 3,000 people have been out of work for 91 days because of strikes against the city's two newspapers, a contract agreement has been reached with a second striking union, the Teamsters.

But the closed-down Plain Dealer and the Press & News and eight other unions still have not reached contract terms. Three unions are still on strike.

Teamster Local 455's members are expected to ratify the two-year contracts Monday night.

Reynolds' tax bill also is expected to call for a revision in the redistribution of state collected income and utility taxes exempt from the increase taxpayers earning less than $3,000. This exemption would eliminate about $10 million a year from the additional revenue to be gained from the increase and leave the Governor about $120 million to apply to his budget.

Soldier of Fortune in 7 Wars Dies At 81 in Salt Lake City Hospital

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Charles Sweeny, a millionaire's son who turned soldier of fortune to fight in seven wars under five flags, died Wednesday at a hospital bed of infirmities of age. He was 81.

A native of San Francisco, the tall, erect, ruddy-faced adventurer was one of the organizers of the Lafayette Escadrille in which Americans flew for France during World War I. Before America entered World War II he organized the Royal Air Force's American Eagle Squadron.

Sweeny's lust for adventure became apparent at the age of 16, when he enlisted in the U.S. Army and fought in the Spanish-American War.

He returned to graduate from the University of Notre Dame and the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. He rounded out his military education at France's Ecole Militaire.

Sweeny enlisted as a private in the French Foreign Legion in 1914 and rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel within three years. He was transferred to the U.S. Army in 1917 when America entered the war.

Wounded three times, he retired at the end of the war as a colonel.

Pursuing adventure, Sweeny fought as a general in the Polish army against the Bolsheviks, then joined the revolutionary army of Kemal Ataturk of Turkey.

Soviet Ship With Small Number of Troops Quits Cuba

U.S. Denies Soviet Notice of Keeping Some Units on Island

WASHINGTON (AP) — One Soviet ship carrying only a small number of troops has left Cuba for Russia under a Soviet promise to put several thousand out of Cuba by March 15.

Reporting this today officials said four other ships are known to have been on the way to Cuba. One of them is understood to be very close to the island. The four ships have a potential capacity to haul away eight or nine thousand Soviet soldiers.

Presumably the one ship known to have sailed with military passengers is the luxury liner Bal tika reported Feb. 21 to have set out with a then undetermined number aboard. The big ship had put in at Havana only a few days earlier.

The state department said meanwhile, that it has not received any notice from the Soviet government of intention to leave some troops in Cuba indefinitely.

Asst. Secretary Robert Manning in charge of public relations was asked about a New York Times news service report that the Soviets have advised the United States they intend to leave a military force in the island after the withdrawal soon of several thousand troops. The story said that was interpreted in Washington as meaning a pull-out of 7,000 leaving about 10,000.

No Notification Given

"We have received no such notification," Manning said. "Nor have we drawn any such inference from any communication or conversation with them."

The Soviet government sent word earlier this month that several thousand of its troops would be withdrawn by the middle of March. U.S. officials estimated that the number to be removed would run between 3,000 and 8,000.

Apparently this estimate was based in part on shipping understood to be available for quick transportation.

Officials said that since the number of troops and military technicians in Cuba now is around 17,000, the removal of several thousand obviously would not provide for withdrawal of the entire force under the present Moscow commitment. But they said the

Lewis, whose vote was reported officially as 12,189 to Alford's 888, was formerly a city building inspector.

He was the first Negro to serve as alderman of the 24th Ward, which is estimated to have a population 80 per cent Negro.

Dillon Asked For Views on Tax Reduction

Republicans Want To Know Whether He, President Differ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have fired some sharp questions at Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon trying to pin down whether his view of a tax cut is less urgent than President Kennedy's.

There have been whispers of differences between the White House and the Treasury over the program and Dillon was asked Wednesday.

Does the administration now believe a tax cut bill this year is so important that it is willing to scrap the revenue raising revisions if they stood in the way? Is a recession imminent demanding drastic counter measures?

Dillon testifying before the tax writing House Ways and Means Committee insisted his views and the President's coincided.

Favors Revision

He said he hoped the tax bill will not be "a plain reduction bill and nothing more" because the administration believes that the changes in the tax structure which it has recommended as reforms are important.

And he foresees no recession after 1964 unless it is triggered by a tax cut bill.

Says 'Cruel Disease of Discrimination' Exists In Most Parts of Nation

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy appealed to a divided Congress today to reinforce the down on filibustering. They said, Negro's right to vote and to attend desegregated schools in a tailored in realistic style, that it ought to be passed, and there is good chance it will

In the century since Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, the President's message said slavery has vanished but progress for the Negro has been blocked and delayed too often.

Equality before the law, he said, has not always meant equal treatment and opportunity. And harmful, wasteful and wrong results of racial discrimination and segregation still appear in virtually every aspect of national life in virtually every part of the nation.

URGES NATIONAL EFFORT Kennedy cited his administration with a sparkling two-year record on civil rights. But he said a broad national effort still is needed an effort embracing state and local governments, private citizens and organizations and the congressional machinery.

His requests for legislation are expected to be submitted within 10 days or so as three separate bills.

WOMAN TAKEN OUT OF WELL AFTER 32 HOURS SANGER Calif. (AP) — Sheriff officers rescued a woman from a deep well Wednesday after she had spent 32 hours trapped in it.

Inez Hiscock, about 50, was reported in good condition in a hospital. Officials said she suffered from extreme shock and exposure and may have pneumonia. They said she was very hoarse from calling for help.

Concern over the fate of the world's first atom powered merchant ship Savannah's power plant vessel is undergoing at Galveston, Tex. was planned from the start. AEC General Manager A.R. Luecke said in a statement Wednesday.

Hall wrote Seaborg that the committee would not approve further operation of the Savannah until an extensive overhaul was completed and a full review of the ship's operational status made.

It is possible that the letter has not been clearly understood. The spokesman in said he described it as just a sort of a reminder the committee's recommendation for an overhaul before the Savannah goes to sea again.

County Executive Now a Possibility

Bill Permits Units Over 100,000 To Elect or Appoint Administrator

Post-Crescent M. Staff Bureau

MADISON — The first important structural change in county government in many decades is apparently on the way to achieve-

The Wisconsin assembly by an overwhelming vote Wednesday passed a bill by Assemblyman Jerome Quinn of Green Bay to authorize counties of 100,000 population or more to elect or appoint a county executive to super-serve the enlarging functions of county government in the urbanized sections of the state.

The vote of 81 to seven probably forecasts concurrence of the state senate in the measure, according to backers of the bill.

WCBA NEUTRAL

Because the measure provides an option for counties, the powerful Wisconsin County Boards Association which normally resists proposals for changes in county government methods remained neutral on the issue this year.

Two years ago a similar measure was approved by the assembly, but died when Sen. Leo O'Brien of Green Bay held it in his committee on governmental affairs until legislative adjournment.

O'Brien has indicated that he will not oppose the bill through such delays this year.

As written the bill would permit county boards to name an existing county official, such as the county chairman or the county clerk, to the executive office, or choose an outside person. The county boards also will be able to decide whether the selection will be by them, or by a direct vote of the people.

Quinn told the assembly that the headless structure of the counties today is costly in the larger counties, and that a central executive is needed in counties as clearly as in cities and villages which operate under managers or mayors.

State to Seek Better Break For Farmers

Officials to Appear At Milk Hearing on Marketing Orders

Gov. John W. Reynolds, Atty. Gen. George Thompson and the State Department of Agriculture have announced a joint effort to protect the interests of Wisconsin dairy farmers and milk processsors in the upcoming Northeast United States regional milk order hearings.

Proposals on behalf of the Wisconsin dairy industry were submitted Thursday to the United States Department of Agriculture. The Federal Department of Agriculture had issued orders setting the hearings in New York for May 8, 1963, and had asked that proposals be submitted by Thursday.

The proposals ask that the prices paid by eastern handlers for manufacturing milk used for such products as butter and cheese, be increased to be in line with the Wisconsin-Minnesota prices. The Wisconsin-Minnesota price base would be limited to milk used domestically.

The Wisconsin-Minnesota price, 46½ quarts for Class I (bottled on manufacturing milk is higher than that paid to eastern farmers. The price difference puts Wisconsin's 80,000 dairy farmers at a disadvantage in selling butter, cheese and other manufactured products.

The Class I milk price formulas are established by Federal law. In the east, the prices are based on economic formulas, which reflect the changes in the price of feed, for example. In the Midwest, however, the formula is based more on supply and demand.

In most of the major markets in the east, farmers have been receiving $6 a hundredweight (46½ quarts) for Class I (bottled sun farmers for Class I milk average undercutting the Wisconsin farmer.

The average of all prices received by the eastern dairyman is high enough to encourage high output. This has contributed to surpluses on the national market. Loss of domestic sales to Eastern accounts has meant heavy sales to the Federal government in Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin officials worked with the state's dairy industry in drawing up the proposals.

The Secretary of Agriculture was required to call the hearings because the eastern price was more than $2.50 a hundredweight over the midwestern price for eastern farmer to dispose of this surplus to the government with months.

New Level

For surplus milk—that which is bought by the Federal government's Commodity Credit Corp.—the Wisconsin proposals ask, in effect, that a new price level be created in the northeastern markets.

The new price would be below the manufacturing price. The new price would enable the eastern farmer to dispose of this more than three consecutive months.

Adult School Won't Issue Work Permits

Appleton Board Votes to End Special Service

The issuing of work permits and age certificates will be terminated by the Appleton Vocational and Adult School on April 1 and the service transferred to another agency in the city.

The Board of Vocational and Adult Education made the decision during a review of administrative procedures. The portion of the AVS student body that is of an age to require work permits has become so small that the board felt it advisable to terminate the service, explained Carl Bertram, AVS director.

The State Industrial Commission will announce soon which agency in the city will handle the service. Work permits are required of any minor under 18 who holds a job, and persons over 18 may get age certificates to prove their age.

Douglas Ajer, director of the wage and hour division and women and children's division of the Industrial Commission, Madison, acknowledged the decision and expressed appreciation to the board for its help with the work.

Man Waives Hearing in Death of Stepdaughter

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Robert L. Kodrich, 20, waived preliminary hearing in County Court on a charge of homicide by reckless conduct in the death of his 20-month-old stepdaughter, Peggy Anne Rubner, Saturday night.

Kodrich was bound over to Circuit Court for trial under bond of $300.

Authorities said the baby died of abdominal hemorrhaging. Kodrich told police that he spanked Peggy when he found her playing with forbidden items in her bed. He said he released her and she fell down the stairs in their home. The child was pronounced dead four hours later in a hospital.

Thanks to a Swiss Baker, These 'Spanische' Breads Feature Pimiento-Stuffed Olives

Golden Yellow Casserole bread, flavored with grated cheese and pimiento-stuffed olives, is a wonderful way to tempt family appetites. The Olive-Casserole Bread is made like a pie pastry by cutting the butter into the dry ingredients and the dough requires no kneading.

Cookbook Features Party Ideas

TONVILLE — The Clintonville Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America is conducting its annual sale of the book, "Favorite Recipes of Economics Teachers." The collection features desserts and beverages.

Contains over 2,000 recipes selected by home economics teachers in every section of the United States. The recipes are original, aimed at everyday cooking, as well as creative and unusual attractions.

The cookbook contains separate sections for cakes, cookies, pies and sandwiches. Cooking tables and helpful pointers, plus photographs, highlight the collection. A dessert calorie chart, a list of ingredients for desserts, and spice charts are included.

Information on the cookbook may be obtained from FHA members or Mrs. Beverly Wruck, economics teacher and club at Clintonville High School.

Prepared Biscuit Mix makes a fine yeast dough for these Herb-Olive Pan Rolls. Sliced pimiento-stuffed olives, celery seed, poultry seasoning or any other combination of favorite herbs provide the interesting flavor. After kneading, let the dough rest about 15 minutes before shaping into rolls or loaves. It's easier that way.

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Ever hear of using Spanish pimiento-stuffed olives in dinner rolls and bread? Well, the Swiss have . . . they've been eating delicious variations on this theme for years all because of an enterprising baker in Baden.

To clear up any confusion over the Swiss-inspired recipes called "Spanische," most Middle Europeans placed the term on any dish that was a little unusual or elegant simply because Spain seemed such an exotic place to them. Also these popular breads so often served in Switzerland are aptly named for another reason . . . each recipe calls for pimiento-stuffed olives. As for the Swiss, cheese in any form is and always has been a favorite food and thus many of their Spanische hot breads also use cheese with the olives.

The interesting story about the Baden baker goes back many years. He made a bread so different in shape and so delicious that it became famous. Families in Zurich used to send their women servants to Baden for the wonderful, crusty loaves of Spanische Brotli. On Thursdays, the little red and blue train that chugged along the Limatt River was so full of servant-girl commuters loaded down with bags of the Spanische Brotli that the train quickly became known as the Spanische Bread Train.

There's no doubt that these adaptations of Swiss bread recipes are just as delightful . . . especially during the lenten season when menus need brightening. Some are enhanced with cheese and herbs, but they all contain a liberal touch of sliced pimiento-stuffed olives to make them most "Spanische."

Olive Casserole Bread

1 pkg. active dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1/2 cup milk, scalded
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup butter
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup grated parmesan or cheddar cheese
1/2 cup sliced, pimiento-stuffed olives
Butter

Soften yeast in water. Cool milk to lukewarm. Meanwhile, sift flour, sugar and salt into mixing bowl. With pastry blender or fork, cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add egg, softened yeast and milk, beating well. Stir in grated cheese and sliced olives, reserving 10 to 12 olive slices for garnish.

Turn dough into greased eight- or nine-inch round pan. Cover with damp cloth and let rise until doubled in bulk, about 40 minutes. Turn rolls on side and let cool to room temperature. Wrap air tight in transparent plastic or other freezer paper. Freeze. To prepare, unwrap rolls and place in 450-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Brush with melted butter.

Cream Cheese-Olive Rolls

1 pkg. hot roll mix
4 ounces cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup sliced, pimiento-stuffed olives

Prepare roll dough and let rise according to package directions. Mix cream cheese with sour cream; add olive slices and mix lightly. Roll dough into 12 by 18-inch rectangle on floured surface. Cut dough into three-inch squares.

Place heaping teaspoon of filling in center of each square. Fold corners toward center and press dough to seal. Place on cookie sheet. Bake in 375-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes until brown. To make brown-and-serve rolls, double dough, recipe and shape rolls as above. Place in aluminum foil pans. Let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk. Bake in 275-degree oven for about 40 minutes. Cool 20 minutes in pan after baking; turn rolls on side and let cool to room temperature. Wrap air tight in transparent plastic or other freezer paper. Freeze. To prepare, unwrap rolls and place in 450-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Brush with melted butter.

U. S. Important Producer of Wines

BY MALCOLM R. HEBERT

America is now a leading wine producing country. And well it should be because we have the soil, the climate and the vines to produce great wines.

Moreover, our premium wines, with their depth of body, balance and longevity, are better buys and better drinking than many.

Hebert

of the imported wines. In so-called "off" years of imported wines, American premium wines stand head and shoulders above imports.

The American wine industry is only 200 years old. Considered a youngster in the eyes of the "old world," the American wine industry is a billion dollar business; 80 per cent of the wine drunk in America comes from American vineyards.

There are many differences between American wines and imported wines; differences that a chef should know about. First, all wines are aged in barrels. Then his recommendation. He is just as pleased to use, serve and recommend the French wines, the German wines or the American wines with any and every dish:

Here is our recommendation for the use of a red wine in Chicken Normandie.

Chicken Normandie

1 large fryer, cut up
3 cooking apples, cut in quarters
1 cup red wine

Fry chicken until brown in butter or oil. Place chicken in a casserole; top with cut up apples. Pour wine into frying pan in which chicken was browned, scrape pan thoroughly. Pour wine and pan juices over chicken and for 15 cents in coin and a stamped envelope sent to Miss Hillyer at this newspaper, hour or until chicken is tender. Fingers or Forks

A lovely writes: Members of my bridge-luncheon club have decided to limit the menu to finger foods, so as to simplify serving. But I think such meals will become either dull or messy. Other than sandwiches, what can be comfortably eaten in the fingers? Ammunition for rebuttal, please?

The Answer: Aside from sandwiches the list is pretty much confined to canapes, whole artichokes, corn on the cob, cookies, cake, bread, rolls, candy, pickles,

Bones, other than spare ribs, should have the meat cut off, then be left on the plate. Where all this leaves a finger food luncheon group is probably with a change of rules. For varied menus and the enjoyment thereof, silverware is not often dispensable.

Check Found For Thyroid Cancer Victims

CHICAGO—Encouraging results have been reported among patients with cancer of the thyroid treated with radioactive iodine following surgery.

Follow-up examinations of 152 patients showed that 73 were apparently free of the disease an average of five years after treatment. Drs. Thomas P. Haynie, Mohammed M. Nofal and William H. Beirwaltes, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., said.

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, they said, it appears at present that adequate surgery followed by radioactive iodine therapy may well free a substantial number of properly selected patients of their cancer.

Pickles become the target of a fork when served with meat. Getting to the heart of a whole artichoke is impossible without a fork and knife.

Two items not yet mentioned are sometimes taken in the fingers by people of informal persuasion. They are asparagus spears and meat bones. But for the sake of tidiness, the first

In addition, they said, there had been no recurrences among patients who had been free of symptoms for three years after therapy.

Sunny Girls' Bedroom

A room should be sunny for two long wall is used to advantage—sunny little girls, and this one is because windows were cut out overhead when they couldn't be cut in the long wall. It took imagination to remodel the dark attic space brightly for children, but once the window question was settled, more ideas sparked fast.

The windowless state of the room should be sunny whatever the sky, and it came with the cover-up of the old walls—as soon as the plastic-finished hardboard paneling was on the walls, the color was, too. So was the marbleizing on one wall, and easy care was just as firmly established since the smooth plastic surface damps clean.

It's found money—when you restore a dingy old piece of furniture to beauty with a refinishing job. Send for Elizabeth Hillyer's booklet, "Furniture Refinishing—How to Do It Yourself" and learn how. The booklet is yours and pan juices over chicken and for 15 cents in coin and a stamped envelope sent to Miss Hillyer at this newspaper, hour or until chicken is tender. Departure Aided by Attendants Wedding attendants play a major role when the newlyweds are ready to leave their reception.

The bride will quietly tell her bridesmaids of the plans, and young unmarried girls will gather for the toss of the bride's bouquet. This reception tradition decreases that the one to catch the flowers will be the next bride.

The maid of honor assists the bride in changing to her going-away costume. The bridegroom is helped in his change of clothes by the best man. Ushees also lend a hand, making certain that the bridegroom has his tickets, keys, checks and money for the wedding trip.

Both bride and bridegroom should try to reserve a few minutes with their parents before their departure. This last minute bit of privacy is the most easily be tempted to leave the dash to the car are reception highlights.

have played his deuces without emphasis or snap but he got carried away by enthusiasm for the best line of defense.

East's enthusiasm didn't help him. West growled "Nothing but parents' home was the setting for deuces in your hand eh?" and continued with another heart.

Blows Defense

This play blew the defense sky-high. South ruffed the second heart and led a club. West won eynoon, the newlyweds will re-with the jack of clubs and led a side at Marion third heart to make South ruff again.

Now South ruffed a club in dummy, took a trump finesse led a diamond to the dummy and took another trump finesse. The rest was easy.

East had told his partner to switch from clubs and then to switch from hearts. A trusting partner would switch to diamonds, and this would defeat the contract.

If South tries to reach dummy twice with diamonds for trump finesses, East gets a diamond ruff. If South tries to get to dummy the second time by ruffing a club, he must give up a club first, and then West leads a second diamond to give East a ruff.

It's wonderful to have enough deuces for discouraging signals but it's even better to have a partner who will respect your signals.

Altrusa Club Holds Meeting

Miss Esther Pickles was chairman of the hostess committee for the February dinner meeting of Altrusa Club at the Elks Club.

She was assisted by Miss Inez Davis and Mrs. Howard Thelin.

Election of officers was scheduled for the March 21 meeting. A slate of officers was presented by Miss Ruth Davis, Miss Althea Domian and Miss Bernice Kregel, members of the nominating committee.

Al Johnson, director of the YMCA, presented a slide-lecture on the building program and progress of the new YMCA.

If you use "weak two-bids" you can open this hand with two hearts, as shown in today's hand. This shows a strong 6-card suit in a hand that is not quite worth an opening bid. Don't try a weak two-bid unless your partner and the opponents know that your two-bids are of this nature.

European Opinion Split On U.S. Woman's Image

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some live and negative," reports a U.S. European think too many American women "wear the trousers" of the family. Others like American women for their vitality and freedom.

"Stereotypes of American women" among West Europeans "divide rather evenly between positive and negative," reports a U.S. Information Agency poll.

The September 1960 USA study in four European countries, made public today under the agency's new policy of releasing its samples of foreign opinion after opinion of women's activities for at least a year old, re-in the U.S." brought these reports that European women are percentages of net favorable (more generally, more favorable to women than bad) responses: Britain 34; West Germany 18; France 11 and Italy 36.

Admire Independence

That's because European women tend to admire the independence, efficiency and smart dressing of their sex in America while European men often think of American women as bad housewives and domineering, the survey indicates.

One of the questions — "Your feelings of foreign opinion after opinion of women's activities for at least a year old, re-in the U.S." brought these reports that European women are percentages of net favorable (more generally, more favorable to women than bad) responses: Britain 34; West Germany 18; France 11 and Italy 36.

"In all nations (except perhaps Britain)," says the study, "a major favorable impression is one of freedom, expressed in such words as vitality, confidence, independence, progressiveness and a public-spiritedness that does not limit the interests of American women to the home."

Favorable Impression

"A second major favorable impression ... is that of effective industriousness, particularly in the use of labor-saving devices to run the home competently and comfortably ..."

"Among (British) men, whose homes are their castles and who, if the castle seems in danger of falling, at least can take refuge in clubs and pubs, the outstanding impression is of unwomanliness — of a domineering, bossy creature, wearing the trousers. This aspect of American women is also mentioned, though to a smaller degree, in France and Italy ..."

Universal Charge

"But the most universal charge is that of laziness and idleness in the home ..."

"In Italy, the most single frequent negative impression is that of forwardness, expressed in such terms as oversexed, or immoral, with frequent references to divorce ... as a final blow, a few French respondents even stress a lack of elegance and style ..."

"But it is also a Frenchman who sums up the type of neutral reaction which is common everywhere: 'For me, it's the woman, and I don't differentiate by nationalities.'"

Little Boy Blue

Little Boy Boy is back in style. Blues appear in everything from the most casual playclothes to the most dress-up dancing - school suits, which often incorporate such other current fashion notes as V necklines and brass buttons.

Bricks Get Powdery

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: The bricks in our basement wall are getting powdery. Is there anything that can be done to stop it?

A: Try applying a liquid cement-hardening preparation, available masonry supplies dealers and some large hardware stores. If the bricks are very old and deteriorating, replacement may be the only correction.

Q: The dining room window in our ground-level apartment faces a sidewalk, just outside the window, where people pass by and look in. The window is large, almost floor-ceiling height, and is paneled (20 of them). I have covered the panes with white tissue paper, which permits daylight through and gives privacy; also tried Japanese rice paper with impregnated leaves and butter and fabric stores; very easy to find, but it looked too busy. Can launder, too.

Q: I have a set of dining room chairs covered with a plastic leathrette. Is there a paint that would cover and stick to this type of surface without cracking?

A: A "frosting" type paint, in aerosol form, is available at some large paint and hardware stores. How about using window curtains of unlined curtain fabric, such as fiber glass? In a wide variety of weaves and colors at department stores. Very easy to use. Follow label directions for use carefully.

Today's Etiquette
BY LOUISE DAVIS

GUEST GOOFED

Dear Louise: My very efficient maid used to work for my friend, Mrs. Smith, and when Mrs. Smith came to a dinner party at our home she kept up a running fire of conversation with the maid whenever she came into the dining room. This was embarrassing to all, especially to the maid. I thought it very poor taste on the part of Mrs. Smith and hope I'm not being a snob.

Louise Davis Answers:

There is nothing snobbish about your attitude. Your maid is your employee and was on the job performing her duties. Your dinner party was no occasion for your guest, Mrs. Smith, to try to carry on a conversation with her. Mrs. Smith was obligated to consider her hostess and the guests by conversing with them. It seems to me that this would have been an opportunity for your maid to put Mrs. Smith in her place by ignoring her as politely and diplomatically as she could. Chances are that she succeeded fairly well too because of her embarrassment. On the other hand, Mrs. Smith wouldn't be so snobbish as to ignore your maid completely. She would naturally greet her with such a comment as, "How do you do, Mary. It is nice to see you again." And let it go at that.

Fractures Ankle When His Plane Crashes

BLACK RIVER FALLS (AP)—Robert Meek, 33, of Black River Falls received a fractured ankle and other lacerations when his single-engine plane crashed on a farm in Oak Ridge about eight miles south of here.

Meek, who was in good condition in a Black River Falls hospital, was on a pleasure flight when his small plane ran out of gas. His wife, Dorothy, is the Jackson County clerk of court.

Miss Elaine Malbin spent part of Wednesday afternoon curled up with the book "Renoir, My Father" at the Conway Hotel. The young star of Carnival says she has seen much of the country during the seven-month tour which will end in May. During free hours she reads, writes letters and takes long walks. The diminutive young woman grew up in Brooklyn and made her musical debut at the age of 14. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Carnival Star Has Personal Ambitions

BY JEAN OTTO
Post-Crescent Woman's Editor

Elaine Malbin's biography contains an amazing list of credits. It says nothing, however, about the warmth of her personality, the friendliness in her smile or the graciousness of her manner. There is nothing brittle or phony about the star of Variety Theater's "Carnival," who has been a professional singer since the age of 14. She is a genuine and charming person.

Miss Malbin and company performed Thursday evening in Rockford, Ill. She and the crew traveled by night bus and arrived at 7 a.m. Wednesday. Over a combination of breakfast and lunch, Miss Malbin talked about her career and her love of music. The petite singer was discovered in P. S. 234 in Brooklyn when she was 11. Her lovely voice was given formal training and at 14 she appeared in New York City's Town Hall. Her accomplishments have grown through the years.

Looking back, the young woman says her early life seems like a hazy dream. "I don't feel I chose my life, it chose me," she remarked, adding that so much was achieved—success in opera, radio and television—when she was very young that she didn't enjoy it as she might now, when she is a more conscious and aware person. Her extra-curricular life is more important to her now, and she is decisive about how she spends time off-stage.

TRIP AROUND WORLD
Much of her free time is taken up corresponding with the many friends she has acquired. She also takes long walks, reads, enjoys an occasional party or a night of dancing.

Miss Malbin says that her friends in the company laugh at her ambition to go around the world. She wants to go, she says, to see what's really going on everywhere. She has gone so far as to visit a travel agency and investigate buying a ticket that will permit her to go anywhere, as long as it's in the same direction. Such a trip would probably take three months, and she believes she'll do it. Besides, after a seven-month tour, she says she'll need a good rest.

The "Carnival" tour began in October in Connecticut and will end on May 11. To date it has given 120 performances in 85 cities, traveling to the west coast and into Washington and Oregon, which she loves. She says that, while New York is the mecca of music and art, she has discovered it's not the only place to live. She would love Washington, she says, where the people are warm and alive and intelligent.

Although she has had a great deal of experience in opera, Miss Malbin says that she prefers the kind of life a performer can lead doing musical comedy. In opera, the training is so rigorous that one has time only for work and rest. One must be in the best voice and physical condition possible. In musical comedy, there is some freedom for social life.

The most difficult part of touring, Miss Malbin says, is sleeping. She usually travels with the night bus, arriving ahead of the rest of the cast and sleeping both on the bus and in a hotel after she arrives. It's easy for dispositions to be affected by too little rest, she smiles, and when you live very close to 35 performers, this could be a terrible thing. Traveling at night has helped solve this, and she never has the feeling that she has to get away from people. Apart from working, she is seldom with them. Yet the singer and actress admits that she has several close friends with whom she can relax and enjoy herself.

Occasional Glamor

She is, she says, gently teased about the six-foot trunk that is carried on one of the trucks. Whenever the company has a stay of three or four days, the stage crew puts it in her dressing room, and she can then be very chic and glamorous.

Usually she lives in comfortable and casual clothes. She laughs that, when the tour is over, she'll probably have to throw everything away. She has slept in her broadtail coat, and on occasion rolled it up for a pillow. There have also been cold traveling nights when she admits having worn her hat and earmuffs to bed. And there have been times, although beauticians frown on the practice, that she has been too tired to remove her makeup before going to sleep.

No Night Club

The performer says she seldom sings "for fun" when she's working. If she weren't working, she'd probably sing light French songs, opera, her real love, and torchy songs, for her own amusement. She has had night club offers, but says she must maintain the professional standards she has set for herself. She couldn't "belt" out song just to be commercial or do anything to harm her legitimate voice.

Miss Malbin, luching on salad, says she's a calorie counter, although it's difficult to see the need, and a gymnast. When her hotel room is large enough, she does exercises each day. At home, in New York City, she belongs to a gym, operated by 84-year-old Joseph Pilates and his wife. He's a fanatic and a genius in his field, she says. And he's strong and beautiful looking, proving to her that discipline is the secret to longevity and good health. The actress and singer knows the value of health, traveling a circuit in which she's in a different city each day. In addition to her work in the show there are often extra rehearsals. And she also spends time keeping her voice in training for her operatic career.

Her Private Goals

The engaging Miss Malbin says she has no great ambition to be a big star. She has had much of that acclaim, in spite of her youth, and knows that it does not mean happiness. Yet music is such an important part of her that she will always include it in her life.

She believes that, for her at least, the most important things are increasing her own understanding and sympathy and knowledge.

This, added to her singing and acting talents, promises a life rewarding both to herself and many others.

Nik Wants Lid on Reds' Rift Publicity

But He Reminds Chinese That Only Moscow Is Strong Enough To Go to Their Aid if Attacked

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
Premier Khrushchev's latest pronouncements in the interminable dialogue with Red China may mean a Peking-Moscow meeting to explore the painful split in the world Communist front.

This does not mean the rift is closing but rather that Khrushchev is anxious to remove the war of words from public view and take it backstage.

In his attempt to accomplish this, Khrushchev has applied the

Lawmaker Says Navy Trying to Squelch Bids

Republican Analyzes Defense Buying, Hitting at Waste

BY CHARLES NICODEMUS

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON—Rep. Earl Wilson (R-Ind.) has charged the Navy is seeking to squelch competition for a radar antenna contract by falsely stating that there are no drawings of the equipment available to permit competitive bidding.

Wilson disclosed in a House speech that his staff turned up the drawings in question in the Navy's own public files—"The very files that are kept to encourage competition in defense work."

Navy Documents

The Hoosier Republican said Navy documents show the service plans to award the $135,000 contract without competition to Chu Associates, Lyttleton, Mass., on official grounds that nobody else—including the Navy—has drawings of the antenna, so nobody else could bid.

Wilson also disclosed that Chu—which was handed two earlier "sole source" (non-competitive) awards for the equipment—plans to charge the Navy $1,500 each for the antenna—50 per cent more than they charged the last time. "This is a small contract," Wilson said. "But it typifies the waste and bad administration that I have found can be unearthed—with a little digging—throughout the entire $55 billion defense budget."

Wilson, a member of the key House Appropriations Committee, is virtually the only member of Congress who personally analyzes defense procurements and bangs away at the waste he finds.

Last Summer

His investigations last summer led to an Armed Services Committee probe that confirmed that the Navy was illegally refusing to give interested manufacturers data that would enable them to bid on contracts the navy wanted to hand out on a sole source basis.

Wilson said that in the current case, the official "determination and findings" that the drawings are not available was signed by Capt. C. A. Appleby, Chief of the Naval Purchasing Office.

But Wilson said six phone calls, in a half hour's time, turned up the information that the drawings had been provided the Navy last summer by Chu, under an earlier contract, and are available in the Bureau of Naval Weapons drawings section in Washington.

quarrel over how world communism should be advanced, Khrushchev replied with notable mildness.

Reminds Chinese
He reminded the Red Chinese and those who side with Peking—that only Moscow is strong enough to go to their aid should they be in danger. He said he would be willing to go to the aid of any Communist country attacked by the "imperialists." But he thoughtfully singled out by name Cuba, Red China, North Viet Nam, North Korea and East Germany.

The Communist parties of North Viet Nam and North Korea side with Peking in the quarrel. They support the Red Chinese contention that Khrushchev fears paper tigers and thus sacrifices opportunities for communism to advance swiftly, particularly in the backward areas of Latin America, Africa and the Middle East.

East Germany's Communist leadership has been nagging Khrushchev on the issue of West Berlin, which he virtually promised four years ago to deliver to them. And Cuba, of course, was included in this blanket pledge of Soviet protection for a specific purpose.

White Feather
The Red Chinese claim Khrushchev showed the white feather last October by agreeing to withdraw Soviet missiles from Cuba after the Kennedy blockade showdown.

Patiently Khrushchev repeated in his speech to a Kremlin election rally Wednesday that he did what he did to "arrest the oncoming avalanche of thermonuclear war." He said he had definitely not "left heroic Cuba at the mercy of the big sharks of American imperialism." He assured Cuba of Soviet support in any "hour of need."

Still speaking softly, Khrushchev rebuked his critics in the Red world that communism's enemies are using and exaggerating their quarrel. He expressed confidence that the Communist parties would find a way to patch up their differences.

Peking belligerently says it is ready for a private meeting to talk things over. Peking wants a backdown from Khrushchev, an admission that he has been wrong and has been an arrant "revisionist" all along. The Communist Chinese will not get any such thing.

Wilson also disclosed that Chu—which was handed two earlier "sole source" (non-competitive) awards for the equipment—plans to charge the Navy $1,500 each for the antenna—50 per cent more than they charged the last time.

"This is a small contract," Wilson said. "But it typifies the waste and bad administration that I have found can be unearthed—with a little digging—throughout the entire $55 billion defense budget."

Name Detective In Warrant in John Doe Probe

Among Charges Are 3 Counts Of Misconduct

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Harry Daniels, a former vice squad detective and one of the police department's more controversial officers, has been named in a nine-count warrant, the second issued as the result of the long John Doe investigation.

The 40-year-old Daniels, a member of the force for 15 years, was accused in the warrant issued late Wednesday with three counts of misconduct as a police officer, two counts of false swearing in the nine-month John Doe probe, bribery, solicitation for bribery, aiding and abetting prostitution and harboring a felon.

Judge Signs Warrant

The warrant was signed by Circuit Judge John L. Coffey, who has directed the secret investigation. In an appearance before Coffey, Daniels, the father of seven children, was held under bond of $2,500 and taken before County Judge F. Ryan Duffy Jr., who continued the case until Friday. Daniels posted the bond and was released.

Daniels was called before Police Chief Howard O. Johnson prior to the court appearance and given an indefinite suspension, pending disposition of the charges. He was ordered to turn in his gun and badge.

Johnson said he asked Daniels to make a plea to the charges in the police suspension order, and he pleaded a general not guilty.

Vice Squad

Daniels was removed from the vice squad in 1958 and had been serving in the warrant section of the detective bureau since.

The three misconduct counts accuse Daniels of interfering with two police officers gathering evidence against two known prostitutes, and Judge Coffey said the charge of harboring a felon was based on the premise that by thwarting the investigation of a crime, Daniels was in fact harboring a felon.

The bribery counts center on the handling of a traffic charge and the investigation of the sale of liquor after hours, with the amounts involved $75 and $20.

Scientists Go West

British Say Uncle Sam Poaches' Their Brains

BY WILLIAM H. STONEMAN

Chicago Daily News Service

LONDON — Screeching headlines "Stop Poaching" and "Poaching Our Brains" in British newspapers yesterday morning called attention to an attack on the United States in the House of Lords by no less a character than Lord Hailsham, lord president of the council and Conservative leader in the upper chamber.

The former Quintin McGregor Hogg took it upon himself to accuse the United States of "living parasitically on other people's brains" because it had engaged in recruiting scientific talent from among the underpaid products of British universities.

Basis of his remarks was a report by the Royal Society showing that 518 "top brains" had gone to the United States during the 10-year period ending in 1962. During the same period, according to the report, 487 went to Commonwealth countries and 131 to other

Lord Hailsham, who is minister for science and was recently appointed to trouble shoot the unemployment situation in the northeastern part of England, gave the lords a short and snappy critique of American educational methods, basing himself partly on recent criticism of American high school education by Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover.

Other members of the House of Lords rose to explain that the flow or talent to the United States was a natural and inevitable con-

Private Debt
Rate Has Now Slowed

Some Say This May Lead to More
Spending, Borrowing

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Personal debts have been rising much faster than the national debt. But the rate has slowed down in the last year or so—just as has the rate of economic growth.

And many advocates of a big federal tax cut now hold that this would lead both consumers and business to spend more and incline them to borrow more. Together spending and borrowing would act as a tonic to the rate of general economic growth.

All of this is conjecture. No one can be sure what people will do with any federal tax saving. They may spend it all. Or they may increase their rate of savings which has been going up of late. Or they may use the federal income tax saving to pay all the various other forms of taxation which have been going up and seem likely to continue on that path.

$140 Billion in '65

Total private indebtedness was $140 billion in 1945. In five years it jumped 79 per cent, in the next five 60 per cent, and from 1955 to 1960 it went up 45 per cent. In the last two years it has risen 15 per cent to $672 billion.

Chief reasons given for the slowing of the rate were smaller gains in home building, in business spending for new plant and equipment and in going in hock for consumer durables.

The federal debt has risen since 1945 at a comparatively slow rate from $259 billion to around $304 billion. State and local government debts have risen much faster.

The U.S. Treasury is now running a deficit and expects this to increase. But the debt rise will still be moderate if compared with the growth of the economy as a whole. Output of goods and services is now running at around $563 billion a year.

And while consumers have been busy running up a huge total of debts, they also have been building a huge total of savings in various forms.

Bank Savings

Commercial bank savings deposits have soared, partly because of the inducement of higher interest rates. So have funds in mutual savings banks. Savings and loan associations report the trend is continuing this year. Life insurance companies are taking in more premiums. Credit unions report gains. Even the total invested in U.S. savings bonds climbs in spite of the competition with other forms of saving that pay more.

But beyond the generally accepted forms of savings, the public has been putting increasingly large sums into various forms of personal security, some private and some public.

Together these are now taking in about a billion dollars a week. The Institute of Life Insurance figures. It notes a steady increase in the amount flowing into life insurance and annuities, into health insurance and into corporate pension funds. These private forms of personal protection took in $11 billion in 1950 and more than $27 billion last year.

So while debts of all forms have risen over the years, so have savings and the programs to secure against future needs.

Total personal property relief was $100,661.68 and liquor tax return amounted to $16,947.57. Kaukauna received $22,253.53 personal property tax relief and $7,799.37 in liquor tax.

Approve Two U.S. Projects

Federal Buildings
To be Built at Eagle River, Elroy

BY FRANCES McKURCK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Authorization for construction of a new $278,200 federal building at Eagle River and a new post office and federal building at Elroy to cost $164,300 were approved by the House Public Works Subcommittee on Buildings and Grounds.

These two projects were submitted by the general services administration to the Congress as part of an 86 project-program under Accelerated Public Works Law aimed at helping economically distressed areas.

Whether actual funds will be provided for these two projects, however, is problematical. According to Senator William Proxmire's office, the Commerce Department, which oversees the Accelerated Public Works Program says it doesn't have the funds to cover the entire program. It therefore will be up to the Congress to appropriate more Accelerated Public Works money this year or the authorized projects will have to go through the regular legislative processes for funding.

This requires approval by the Congressional Appropriations Committees and subsequent appropriations measure after an omnibus public works authorization bill, containing the Eagle River and Elroy projects has been enacted.

In the meantime the Post Office Department informed the office of Rep. John W. Byrnes R., Green Bay that it had selected John J. Flad and Associates, Madison, as the architect to draw up blueprints of a post office renovation job in Sturgeon Bay.

This will include a new ramp, enlargement of quarters and other improvements, details of which the Post Office Department has promised to forward to Byrnes in the near future.

It is believed that the ultimate cost of the Sturgeon Bay Post Office construction project which is separate and distinct from any general services administration accelerated public works program, will be more than $200,000.

GSA incidentally, originally forwarded 145 post office and federal building projects to the congress as a part of the accelerated program. A shortage of funds later required GSA to cut the priority list to 86 projects, according to Rep. Alvin E. O Konski, who said that three other "small" Wisconsin federal buildings projects had been omitted from the second list. Neither the Post Office Department nor GSA consulted the Wisconsin congressional delegation on the selection of the projects.

Temporary Writ Forces Strike Delay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Railway Clerks Union obeyed Tuesday night a California court's order directing a 10-day delay in strike action against the Southern Pacific Railroad. Union leaders declared they would seek prompt court action to upset the temporary injunction.

A strike by the union which has been engaged in a prolonged dispute over automation layoffs on the 8,000-mile Southern Pacific System, would have idled some 50,000 Southern Pacific workers in seven Western states.

Xavier '5' Opens State-Title Bid; Menasha Meet Resumes Friday

Hawks Face Newman in Milwaukee

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Xavier's jet-powered Hawks will join six other regional champions in trying to claw the state Catholic high school championship mantle from the shoulders of Madison Edgewood this weekend in Milwaukee.

On the basis of their imposing credentials (22 straight wins, most of which were achieved by overwhelming margins), the Hawks appear to have the best chance of de-throning Edgewood (21-1).

A lot of basketball, under hazardous tournament conditions, remains to be played before a Xavier-Edgewood "dream" game Sunday night could come to pass. Edgewood's Crusaders have a rougher bracket to plow through — first encountering Milwaukee Pius (19-2), and then the winner of the battle between Racine St. Catherine (18-4) and Milwaukee Marquette (18-3) if they win their opener.

First Since Kimberly
Xavier, the first Fox Cities team to enter a state tournament with a perfect record since the Kimberly team of 1959, opens against Wausau Newman (13-6) at 7:30 p.m. Friday. If the Hawks win, their Saturday foe will be the winner of the game between Green Bay Premonbre (15-6) and Eau Claire Regis (11-11).

When Kimberly went to the state public school tourney in Madison in '58 (with Jack Lamers, Don Headen, Darrell Jansen, Dave Miften, Tom Rooyakers, and company) it had a 23-0 record. The Papermakers lost their opener to champion-to-be Milwaukee Lincoln.

In their first state tourney bid last year, the Hawks lost to Eau Claire Regis, 67-54, on opening day. Xavier went on to edge Green Bay Premonbre (62-61) and Racine St. Catherine (69-65) to annex consolation honors.

The 1962-63 Hawks have a stronger, all-around cast to make a title bid than last year's team which entered with a 20-2 mark. Hold-over regulars "Kip" Whitlinger, Dick Wiesner and "Rocky" Bleier all have the benefit of an extra year of experience. All three have improved — with Bleier making the most progress, both as a scoring threat and as a dynamic defensive player. Starters John Heinritz and Bob DeBruin, both about 62, give the Hawks a little more height than they had last year. Heinritz has become a solid rebounder and has scored in the double figures a number of times.

Adds Punch

DeBruin has added punch to the attack as a strong outside marksman. Inserted into the starting lineup about midseason, after being slowed by an injury, he has been a valuable addition.

Little Further Action Indicated Over Dispute

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — No further action has been indicated in the dispute between Premonbre and Green Bay West and East high schools over Premonbre's allegations that the two public schools have made attempts to lure athletes already enrolled at Premonbre.

John Biolo, West athletic director and football coach, Wednesday afternoon said he had no comment other than what he had said previously, except that he was awaiting a call from the Rev. Ambrose Peeters, O. Praem., athletic coordinator at Premonbre.

Biolo Tuesday had said he "would be prompted to go to law and force Premonbre to name individuals involved and their actions."

Names Before Public

Statements, if any, from Premonbre are to be made by the Rev. H. H. Toonen, O. Praem., principal. "I have nothing to say other than what has been said," Father Toonen said, "as far as I know, we are concerned the issue is dead."

Premonbre earlier said it had a ball players.

Papermaker Quint Begins Tournament Play at Seymour

Regional Favorites to Face Waupaca Friday Night

By RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Kimberly's powerful Papermakers make their debut in WIAA State High School Basketball 11 tournament elimination play at 8:30 p.m. Friday when they face the Waupaca Comets in the Seymour High School Gym.

The contest will be preceded by the DePere-West DePere clash, which is slated for 7 p.m. The Seymour Regional tournament finals are scheduled for Saturday evening at 7:30.

Rates as Favorite

Coach Dave Genzmer's Mid-Eastern Conference champions are reported "ready and anxious" to get on the tournament trail. The team is in excellent physical condition.

Genzmer has seen all of the teams in the meet and hopes his charges won't take their opponents lightly. Kimberly is an overwhelming favorite in the tournament but the coach would sooner see his team play tough opposition from the very start. "You can't tell what those little teams are going to do," he went on.

The Papermaker mentor is cautious about how the team will fare when, "and if," the tougher sectional tournament competition comes up.

While many have Kimberly already safely in a bracket of the Neenah event, Genzmer is playing them one at a time.

"Waupaca uses a man-to-man defense," he commented as he looked over his scouting reports. The Comets tied for fourth place in the Central Wisconsin Conference this season with an 8-8 record.

Coach Al Schlatter opens with a lineup that includes Gary Johnknecht, Brian Erickson, Dave Peterson and Bill Spiegler. Johnknecht, at 6-3, is very tough on the boards.

Providing the consensus of opinion is correct and Kimberly successfully comes through the Seymour meet, the Papermakers will engage the Reedsburg regional tournament winner at West DePere Tuesday night.

Veteran to Use Same Program Used by Braves' Younger Set

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Milwaukee southpaw Warren Spahn, the winningest hurler in the majors, is following the training program used by younger pitchers and hopes it will give him a faster start this year.

Spahn, who will be 42 in April and boasts 327 victories in 18 big league seasons, said Wednesday that he had cut down on the training pace he set for himself in previous years.

"I always used to come down here and start throwing immediately," he said. "I would pitch myself into shape. Now, I've made my mind that as long as they have a program of conditioning for all the other pitchers, it should be good enough for me."

"The main thing is that I won't throw as much. I'll work myself into shape more gradually. I am going to try to build up to a conditioning peak so I am ready for the opening day."

.500 at Break

"I don't know if it will work, but it's worth a try. I haven't had much luck the other way. Look at all the bad starts I've had. There have been many years when I was under .500 at the All-Star break and I still finished all right. I figure if I can get off to a good start, my record will be that much better."

Spahn said that the elbow trouble which bothered him in the

Michigan State and Michigan Expected to Be Top Challengers

MADISON (AP) — The Big Ten track meet Friday and Saturday shapes up as a dual between defending champion Wisconsin and teams from the universities of Michigan and Michigan State.

Michigan, runner up to Wisconsin last year with 46.5 points, has the 1,000 yard defending champion Charles Aquino leading its team. He has been clocked at 21.13 this year.

Michigan State, third last year with 28 points, has a double winner in the 300 yard dash and the broad jump. Sherman Lewis, Iowa, fourth a year ago, brings a fine group of middle distance runners this year, including Bill Frazier, defending champion in the 600 yard run. The Hawkeye mile relay team has been clocked at 3:16.0 this year, besting the record 3:16.3 set by Illinois in 1960.

For its part, Wisconsin will have defending titlists Bill Smith in the 60 yard dash and Don Hendrickson in the shotput. The injured Larry Howard is a doubtful starter in the high and low hurdles.

Actually, the tournament is not exactly the first tournament. It is, however, the first 8-team tournament and thus is being tabbed as the first truly "state" Lutheran meet.

The first ideas of the tournament were put together in the LaCrosse YMCA in 1959. One of this year's participants, Onalaska, Luther, was the first host to the event.

Onalaska invited the First Lutheran Grade School of LaCrosse, Winnebago, and the four other combined schools of St. Matin and St. Martin of Winona, Luther, St. Paul Lutheran and St.

Lakeside Lutheran of Fort Croix.

The Warriors took an earlier 15-7 victory over Detroit, 13-11 for the season but winner of seven of its last nine games. Marquette has three remaining road games before going to New York for the NIT.

Coach Ed Hickey will start an all-senior lineup against the Titans. Starters will be Ron Glaser, Dick Nixon, Dave Erickson, Bob Hornak and Lee Borowski. All except Borowski have been starters for three seasons.

Marquette has a 33-19 series edge over the Titans, who will start three sophomores.

Terrors Play Oshkosh in Tourney For First Time Since 1957; Rockets and Jays to Clash

By JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The Menasha regional — one of the most unpredictable and most colorful in the WIAA's basketball tournament series — will crown a champion this weekend after a minimum of 96 minutes of high excitement.

Oshkosh (10-9) and Neenah (15-8) will be favored to score semi-finals victories Friday night over Appleton (6-12) and Menasha (8-10), respectively, and qualify for Saturday's title game.

The degree of certainty about the opening-night results diminishes, however, in view of past experience. Only last year, for instance, Menasha came out of nowhere to shock highly-ranked Neenah, 64-63.

Oshkosh begins defense of its regional title against Appleton in the 7 p.m. opener in the Menasha High School gym. Neenah and Menasha renew their intra-Twin Cities feud at about 8:30.

AHS will rely heavily on a 3-pronged scoring attack, featuring Brian Bock, Gary Hietpas and Mike Woehler. Bock has totaled 235 points for 18 games — an average of 14.2.

Hietpas, a second-team all-conference choice, has scored 247 points in — for all intents and purposes — 17 games (since he missed all but a couple of minutes of the first Manitowoc game because of illness.) His average for 18 games is 13.7, but on the basis of 17 games, it is 14.5. The Indians earned a semi-final berth by finishing fast to beat an illness-weakened Kaukauna team, 66-49, in Tuesday's elimination game. Oshkosh won the regional crown last year by beating Menasha in the finals. OHS also won regional honors on the same court in 1960.

Appleton's Gary Hietpas has runnerup Manitowoc each placed

They shook off the cloak of conservatism Wednesday, however, when they:

1. Signed slugger Mickey Mantle for $100,000.

2. Displayed the contract for all to see.

3. And then landed slugger Roger Maris for $72,000 virtually before the ink was dry on Mantle's contract, for probably the biggest one-day signing spree by a club in baseball history.

Thus, the world champions shattered precedent not only by signing their first two highest-priced performers at the same stroke, but also by showing off the salary figure on a player's contract — normally a top secret item.

Usually a club stages its big signings separately for publicity value, but since spring training is under way the Yanks couldn't wait any longer to make a splash in their hometown, where news papers have been shut down for almost three months by a strike.

Why the Yankees exhibited

Mantle's signed contract to newsmen was not explained, but probably because the document puts the 31-year-old Oklahoma in a small circle of baseball's 100 gridders. Willie Mays signed for that amount last week with the San Francisco Giants, and Stan Musial, Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio have been the only others in the club.

FVL Meet Becomes Tourney Milestone

The Lutheran high school basketball tournament to be held at the Fox Valley Lutheran High School Gymnasium this weekend could be the first of a long chain of state Lutheran prep meets.

The 1963 tourney is tabbed as the "First Annual Wisconsin Lutheran Invitational High School Basketball Tournament," but events back as far as 1959 led to this meet.

Vikes to Compete In 13th Annual Indoor Track Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—Grinnell and the University of Chicago loom as favorites when Midwest Conference teams compete Friday in the 13th annual Chicago and Midwest Conference Indoor Track Meet.

Entries from Grinnell, Lawrence, Knox, Cornell, Carleton, St. Olaf, Monmouth, Beloit and Coe will take part in varsity events at Chicago's Field House and Ripon will send a freshman contingent.

Grinnell which won six of 13 events last year for the team championship, is the slight favorite on the basis of strength in the field and cash events.

Chicago which won 10 straight titles until unseated last year, provides the chief threat to Grinnell's supremacy.

Variable Quota Plan Brings Disagreement

Game Experts, Legislators Have Different Views

MADISON (AP)—Conservation experts and Sen. Reuben La Fave, R-Oconto, matched barbs Wednesday before the Senate Conservation Committee over the relative merits of a variable quota system for controlling deer herds and a proposed special doe deer tag.

The variable quota system goes into effect this year. It allows the Conservation Department, after public hearings, to issue "any deer" permits for areas where an additional harvest is sought.

A bill by La Fave and Sens. Clifford Krueger, R-Merrill, and Leo P. O'Brien, R-Green Bay, would authorize special doe hunting tags, free, in areas deemed overpopulated by deer. A public hearing would be held to determine whether an area should be open for doe hunting.

La Fave charged the Conservation Department is "trying to manage money instead of deer." The free license and the public hearing are the real reasons why the Conservation Department and the commission oppose this bill, La Fave said.

Pick up $250,000

"They want to sell 50,000 party permits under their quota system and pick up $250,000," he added. "But the people of Wisconsin deer should be sold like surplus meat."

Conservation Commissioner Charles F. Smith of Wausau said the La Fave bill would "make mincemeat out of the variable quota system before it is even given a fair trial."

Ernest Swift of Rice Lake, former Conservation Department director, called the measure "an other attempt to keep experts from using the deer management tools they need."

Swift warned that if the bill passed, "all the hunters in the state could pile into a single county and crucify the deer."

Commissioner Paul Olson of Madison said, "the quota system is the better plan to reach the goal we all want—a balanced, healthy deer herd."

Others opposing La Fave's bill were John R. Frederick of the Izaak Walton League, Madison; Harry Mueller of the Resort Association of Wisconsin; Winter, and Marlowe Birgy of the Owens-Illinois forest products division, Tomahawk.

Every leader held to the top spots in the standings Wednesday, but there were several near misses.

Charles Conti, 47, of Akron, Ohio, a railroad fireman, took second in regular-all-events with 1,933 and tied for fifth in singles with 681. Ken Barber, Rego Park, N.Y., leads the all events with 1,940, while Jack Bulls of Bay City, Mich., paces the singles with 706.

Conti had a chance to lead both these divisions but a missed spare in the final frame of his singles play cost him the opportunity to be the pacesetter.

Joe Meszoros of Barberton, Ohio, rolled 660 for second place in the classic singles, behind a 672 effort by Bob Leap of Bedford, Ind.

The Bell Supply Classic team from Wilmington Del., opened its play with a 2,942 block, and Mike's Pro Shop of St. Paul finished its six game classic appearance with a 5,641 total, far behind the leading 6,157 posted by the Helen Tackles of Detroit on Tuesday.

The proposal, advanced by Michigan State Coach Forty Anderson and supported by Wisconsin, probably will be tabled when athletic directors and faculty representatives meet in Chicago next week, the newspaper predicted.

Games Tuesday instead of Monday would give teams more rest and practice time after a Saturday game, advocates of the switch say. Proponents also note that campus organization meetings and city shopping Monday nights cut into basketball game attendance.

Most Big Ten games are played Saturdays. This year's card has 42 Saturday games and 28 Monday tilts.

Lavorante's Father Wants to Take Son Home to Argentina

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The father of heavyweight Alejandro Lavorante Jr. wants to take his unconscious son home to Buenos Aires.

Lavorante, 26, has been in a coma since he was knocked out here last Sept. 21 by Johnny Higgins of San Francisco. Lavorante has undergone three brain operations, but doctors rate his chances of full recovery at no better than 50-50.

Alejandro Lavorante Sr., 66, petitioned Superior Court Wednesday to appoint him conservator of his son. The father said he wants to take charge of about $15,000 his son has in bank deposits here and use the money to provide further medical care for the fighter in Argentina. The petition was to be heard today.

"I want my son near his parents and his three brothers and sister," Lavorante Sr. said.

The father said the Argentine government has indicated the fighter will be assured of the best possible medical care, and will get it at government expense if necessary. Lavorante Sr. said he doesn't want his son to undergo further brain surgery.

The father said recent reports that his son has shown marked improvement were exaggerated.

Xavier Opens Bid for State

Xavier has come along fast—climaxing his efforts with a 23-point night against Menasha St. Mary in the regional finals.

Xavier has averaged 78.4 points for its 22 games, while allowing the opposition an average of 51.5.

In last year's state tournament play, Whittington led the Hawks with 50 points in three games. Wiesner had 38, Bleier 18, Bob Rammer 3 and Heinrich 2. Rammer and Tom Rankin are the top two reserves on the 1962-3 team. Rankin, like DeBrun, is new to state tourney play.

Rounding out the Xavier tourney squad are Tim Garvey, Jim Rather, Paul Putzer, Bruce Griebach and Bill Timmers.

Whittington, Xavier's brilliant shot-maker, will be the highest scorer competing in the tourney. "Kip" has tallied 580 points in 22 games—an average of 26.4.

Edgewood's Dennis Sweeney, the next highest point man, has totaled 543—an average of 24.7.

Xavier whopped Newman by respective 73-44 and 87-42 counts in home-and-home competition during the regular season. Whittington scored 58 points in the two games. Wiesner collected 27, Bleier 14 and Heinrich 10.

Led by Schoeneman

Judd Schoeneman, 6-6 center, accounted for almost half the Newman total in the two games—40 of Wausau's 86 points. He was chosen on the all-Central Wisconsin Catholic Conference team.

Teaming with Schoeneman in the tall front line are Gary Cov and Mike Banderob, both 6-3.

Mike Hughes, at 6-5, is the top front line reserve.

Starting Newman guards are Jim DeBroux, 5-10, and Aaron Bahl. 5-10 Newman has improved in recent games and much of the credit for the difference is given to Bruce Grasmike, a 5-10 freshman, who is the first reserve.

This will be the first state tournament appearance for Newman in its 11 year history. Newman and Xavier are two of the teams looking for their initial state cage title.

The others in the field who have not won the highest honor are Premon and Plus.

Edgewood seeks to become the first school since St. Catherine (in 1958-9) to win two straight state Catholic titles.

The only two teams competing this year who weren't in the 1962 tourney are Newman and Plus. They replace Messmer and

4 State Boxers Gain Semis of Golden Gloves

2 Representatives Of Green Bay Post Wins

CHICAGO (AP)—Four Wisconsin boxers—Charlie Busch and Pete Bosanio of Green Bay and Billy Rothmiller and Johnny Hicks of Kenosha—have fought their way into the semifinal round of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

The four were the only state entrants in Wednesday night's quarter-final bouts. Semifinal and final bouts will be held next Wednesday.

Hicks, a 147-pounder, turned in the most impressive triumph, stopping George Blunt of Streator, Ill., in the first round of their three-round bout. The others won their bouts on decisions.

Rothmiller, a 112-pounder, beat Ray Valasquez of Wichita.

Buss, fighting at 135 pounds, beat Parry Dixon of Chicago.

Bosanio, a 160-pounder, outpointed Roy McMillan of Toledo, the 1961 welterweight champion.

CHICAGO (AP) — Detroit and Fort Worth will pace the field of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions into the semifinals next Wednesday at Chicago Stadium.

The two cities went out front in the team-title competition after the quarter-finals were run off Wednesday night in amateur boxing's biggest show.

On the basis of one point for each bout won, Detroit was ahead with 12 after three nights of battling while Fort Worth had 11.

With 9 each were Chicago, Columbus, Ohio; Hollywood, Calif.; and Nashville, Tenn.; Cincinnati and Kansas City each had 8.

The heavyweight quarter-finalists were led by Ron Marsh, 183-pounder. He is an ex-Marine and plays for the University of Kansas football team. Marsh ignored a badly cut eye to score a three-round decision over Cleveland's rangy Bill Scott.

Welterweight Rory O'Sea of Chicago was the only defending champion surviving. He took a close decision from Don Cobbs of St. Louis.

Assembly Airs Bounty, Pleasure Boat Tax Bills

MADISON (AP)—The Assembly Conservation Committee was treated to a re-run Wednesday of arguments as to whether the state should pay bounties on wild animals and whether pleasure boats should be taxed.

The anti-bounty men this legislative session are Assemblymen Vincent Mathews, D-Waukesha, and David Martin, R-Nearne. They are authors of a bill to repeal the present bounties paid on fox and coyotes.

"Every expert says the bounty system is absolutely useless to control predators," Mathews told the committee. "It's just a subsidy for a few individuals."

Send to Missouri.

Roberts said the department

several years ago sent five men to Missouri to learn how to trap foxes last year, told the committee. "When those trappers got back here," he said, "the way they

Some $312,000 had been paid in this manner since 1960, he said. In 1961-62, bounties on 49,000 foxes cost the state $160,000.

Woodrow Roberts, a Barnesfield trapper who said he killed 500 foxes last year, told the committee if the bounty is retained rabbits and small game will come up so that the Conservation Department will have lots of money."

His position was supported by the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, the Wisconsin Boating Association, the Wisconsin Water Skiing Federation and several boat clubs and individuals.

Neither bill is expected to make much headway in this session.

3 Wrestlers To Represent Vikings in Meet

Three Lawrence College wrestlers will be entered in the Midwest Conference meet at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill. this weekend.

Last year, Lawrence was co-champion in the meet, but a series of injuries has reduced the squad to four wrestlers of late.

Entrants for Lawrence will include Hag Sumner, 123 pounds; Bill Reeves, 167 and Joe Lubenow, 147. Sumner is a senior while Reeves and Lubenow are juniors.

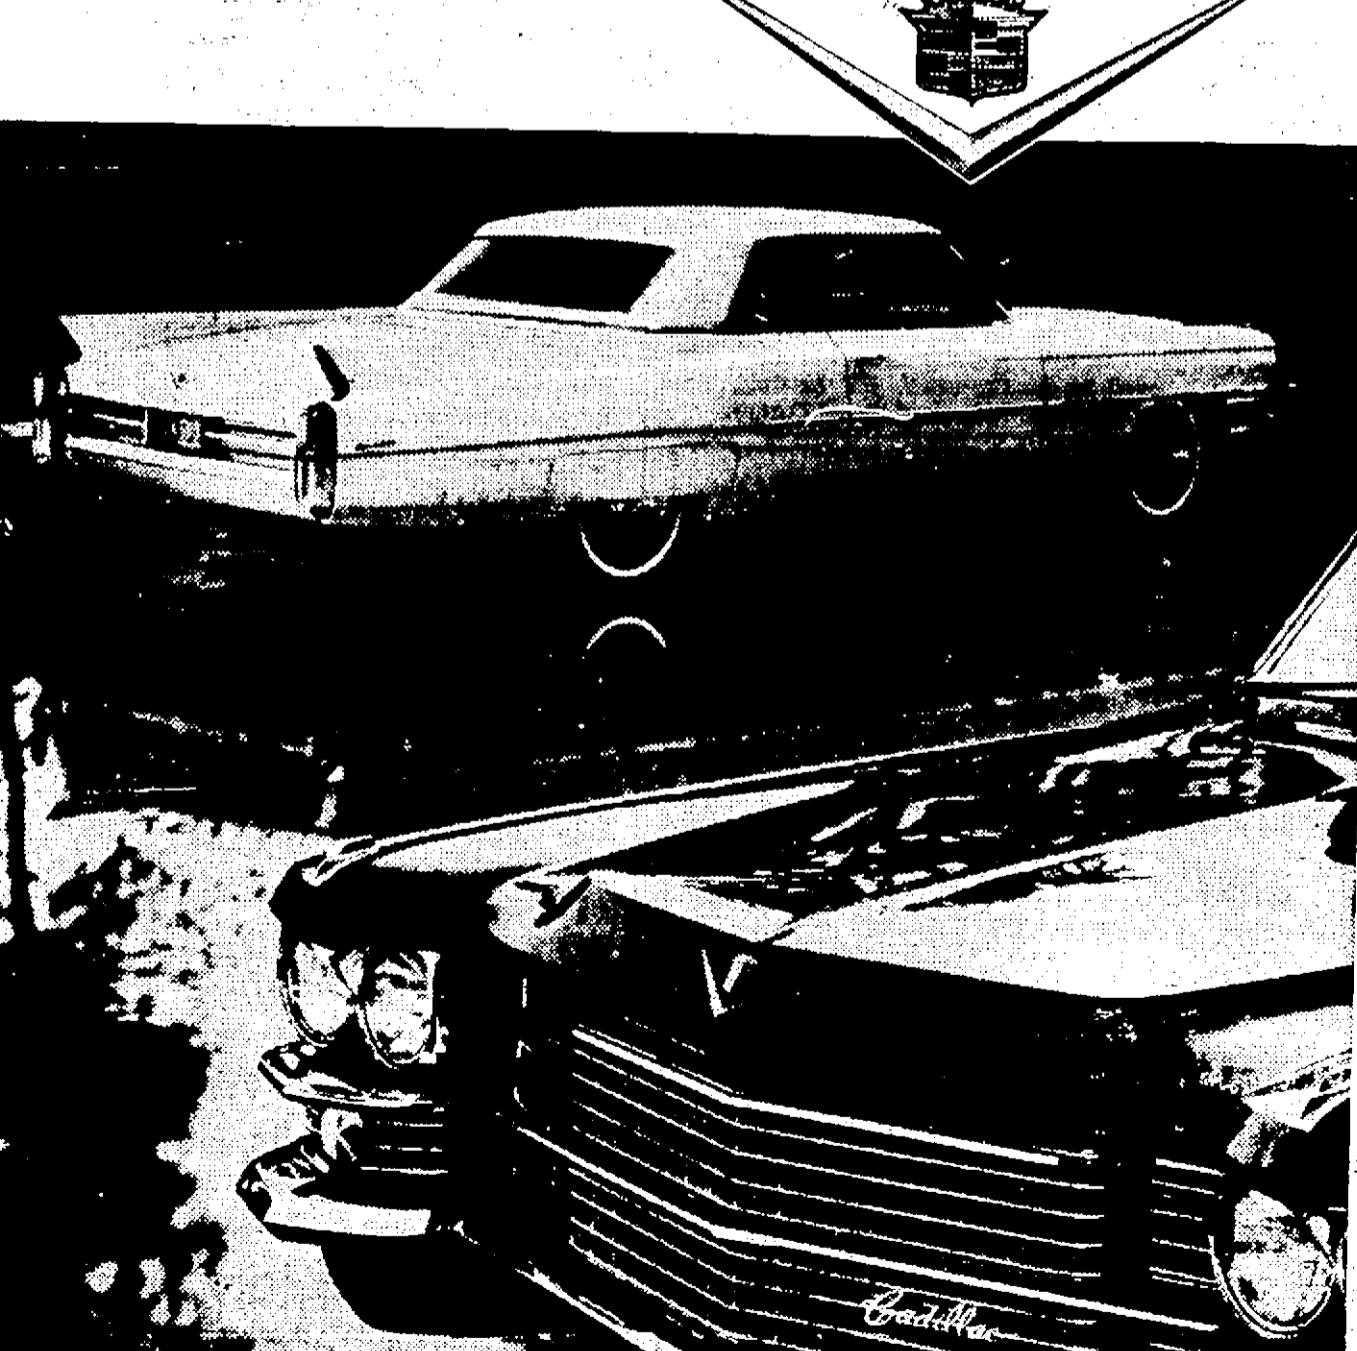

Cornell ranks as the meet favorite. The Rams have won 18 of their last 20 meets and shared the conference crown with Law-rence and St. Olaf last season.

last two months of the 1962 season apparently has disappeared. He added that he "aches all over" after a full day of work but "that's what happens when you get old."

The veteran pitcher, who had an 18-14 season last year, has taken on a new chore for the Braves. He is coaching some of the young left-handed hurlers on the squad. He is teaching them pick-off moves and other tricks of the southpaw trade. His pupils include Bob Hendley, Denny Lemaster, Jim Costable, Dan Schneider and Wade Blasingame.

The Braves now have all but two of their players signed for the 1962 season. Missing are catcher Joe Torre and outfielder Mack Jones. If they do not report by Friday night they will be classed as holdouts.

Veteran outfielder Gus Bell came to terms Wednesday. The 34-year-old Bell, who came to the Braves from the New York Mets last May, hit .285 in 79 games with Milwaukee.

Wolf River Forest Group Lists Goals

Six Points Outlined At First Meeting Of Advisory Unit

A six-point goal for the forest advisory committee of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission was outlined by commission Chairman Gordon Bubolz at the committee's first meeting in Shawano Wednesday night.

The six points are:

Manage forest lands so scenic values are enhanced throughout the basin, keeping forests and forest plantations beautiful.

Help insure continuance of high employment in the wood-using industry of the region.

Provide for an increasing supply of raw wood from forest land in the basin by intensification of forest management practices on private and public lands.

Make adequate provisions for increasing recreational demands being placed on the lands.

Provide suitable habitat for forest animals, consistent with the "carrying capacity" of the forest.

Maximize and stabilize the flow of pure water through proper manipulation of tree cover on the forested portion of the Wolf River watershed.

Recommend Solutions

The committee will develop and recommend solutions to forest management, tree planting, care and harvesting problems common to the seven-county Wolf River Basin area. Members agreed the over-riding task of the committee should be dissemination of information to private owners of forested areas.

Unrealized economic, scenic and recreational benefits to the individual and the public can be gained through increased tree planting and proper harvesting methods, the committee said. The cost per acre, Kaukauna.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Do not say, "She indulges in piano playing." It is better to say, "She engages in piano playing." Properly, the idea of "indulge" is to overdo something, as in gratifying ones tastes, appetite, or passions.

Often mispronounced: Stoic. Pronounce in two syllables, as sto-ick, and not as "stoyck."

Often misspelled: Collar (neck-piece). Choler (anger; wrath).

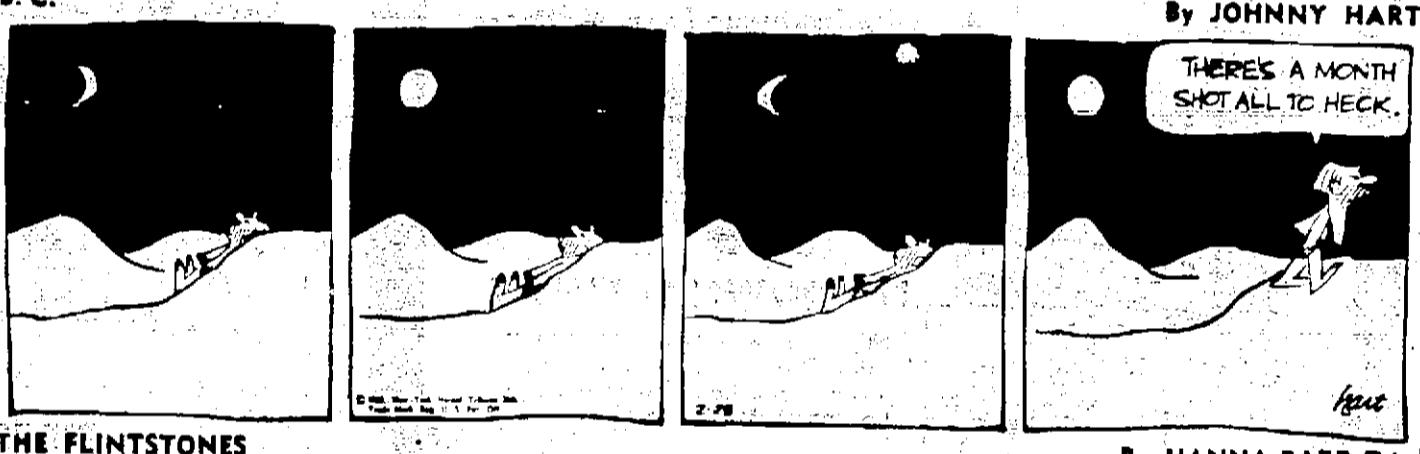

Synonyms: Vicious, villainous, iniquitous, nefarious, flagitious, infamous, corrupt, degenerate.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day...

Today's word: Euphemistically; with an affected style of conversation of writing; in a manner befitting high-flown diction. (Pronounce yu-fyoo-iss-tick-uh-prin-cipal accent on third syllable.) The man spoke euphemistically.

typically when discussing art and literature."

Governor Has Trouble in Arranging Capitol

Editorial — Gov. John W. Nelson has decided to re-arrange his executive offices at the state capitol, but like many suite, he has not decided what he wants. Presumably it would not be difficult to decide them altogether before him, and whose likenesses have adorned public for some of the past governors have surviving families. Space formerly occupied by the present capitol was and friends of stature, and some of the likenesses represent former governors who survive. One gubernatorial likeness that has been authorized has not yet been produced, although it has been commissioned. It will be the portrait of Mr. Reynolds' immediate predecessor and friend, Gaylord Nelson, now the junior U.S. senator from Wisconsin.

The portraits also represent a considerable investment for the Wisconsin state treasury. Some of the recent paintings cost up to $3,000. The governor's apparent goal is to achieve an atmosphere of informality in his big chamber, which has had a formal and official decor for many years. He already has tossed out a huge mahogany desk which was used by more than a dozen other governors, in favor of a smaller desk of the kind found in lawyers' offices. The smaller desk has been put at one end of the room. Most of the men who have been in the highest state government before him, and whose likenesses have adorned public for some of the past governors have surviving families. Space formerly occupied by the present capitol was and friends of stature, and some be white. For many years the capitol painters decorated the governor's office in the same way as other capitol offices were painted, according to the governor's personal order. They will, lately a pastel green.

Cold War Again Has Assumed Gloomy Look

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dismay and disarray.

Those two words paint a world which all in a few weeks changed from cheery to bleary. What looked nice turned to ice. Peace became as slippery as grease.

Talk—big, hot, critical, nagging, and some of it just boastful—compounded the human predicament which for a short time, as it turned out, had seemed as quiet as a lily pad on a still pond in the evening.

It was only a few weeks ago—after Premier Khrushchev had mockingly pocketed his Cuban missiles and shut his lip—that even President Kennedy was moved to think things might be getting better.

Then French President de Gaulle threw a match in the gasoline can.

To show he looked upon the British almost as intruders in Europe, he called them "Anglo-Saxons" and blackballed membership for them in the exclusive international club called the Common Market.

NATO Pool

And if this wasn't enough to upset the alliance, he snubbed the United States by turning down Kennedy's still vague plan for some kind of NATO pool of nuclear weapons.

The British promptly criticized him. So did the United States. And, as if things weren't fouled up enough, the United States criticized Canada, which had been minding its own business, for not using U.S. nuclear weapons.

The Canadians criticized back. And in England, meanwhile, Prime Minister Macmillan was being criticized for accepting Kennedy's offer of Polaris missiles instead of Skylark missiles which Americans now said weren't as good.

Dismay swept Congress when it began to realize Khrushchev was playing with a marked deck. He had pulled his missiles out of Cuba but not thousands of Soviet troops. So it turned out, he wasn't being so meek after all.

Republicans in Congress criticized Kennedy's foreign policy. Democrats in Congress criticized Republicans for criticizing Kennedy which, they said, was certainly contrary to bipartisan foreign policy as they understood it.

Red Chinese.

The Red Chinese had been nagging their Russian friends for talking peaceful coexistence and the Russians nagged them for being reactionaries for not wanting it.

Western eyes got big with a luminous look. They envisioned a kind of Communist earthquake which would split apart the Communist world. The eyes clouded, however, when Khrushchev fell.

Expect Service Corps Measures by Easter

NEW YORK (AP)—Legislation to set up the proposed National Service Corps will be introduced by the administration before Easter. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Wednesday night.

Disclosing this pre-April 14 deadline in a speech for a New York Police Athletic Club dinner, Kennedy said the corps will be ready to get into operation immediately upon congressional approval.

Conceived as a sort of domestic peace corps, the organization would enlist volunteers to help improve the lot of slum-dwellers, residents of economically depressed areas, the mentally retarded, and others in need.

"SPLIT DOLLAR"

A special plan that helps you hold selected employees—return your investment, too!

By using a "split-dollar" arrangement, more and more companies—large and small—are offering selected employees the important security of permanent, personal life insurance. This valuable fringe benefit helps keep them on our payroll. Here's how it works:

You take out a policy on the employee's life. You advance the part of the premium representing the yearly increase in cash value—the employee pays the balance. If the employee dies, his beneficiary receives the face amount of the policy less the total amount you have advanced—this is returned to you. Or, when he retires, the accumulated "cash value" can be returned to you—or you may use it to supplement his retirement income.

This is just one of the many important ways Business Insurance from New York Life can serve your company. For all the facts about this arrangement and other modern insurance plans for your family, company or employee, call all over the Chinese ambassador at a party.

The Chinese, who could recognize soft soap when they smelled it, nagged harder than ever. And two days later, with almost strident criticism, they showed they were not mollified at all.

Right at this point Khrushchev announced Russia would defend Red China from attack. This must have astonished the Chinese since nobody had been attacking them or even talking of it. It probably didn't change them.

Meanwhile, Khrushchev had set the Americans to biting at one another by suddenly promising to remove some of his troops in Cuba but not all. He didn't have to be a magician to figure what came next.

Demands in this country that Kennedy get the Russians out of Cuba although he could do it without getting into war with Russia is something no one has explained yet.

While all this got the kettle boiling like in the olden days of a few months ago, two planes, which the United States said had come from Cuba, attacked a shrimp boat between this country and Cuba. Fidel Castro denied the charge.

The boat was unmarked and uninhabited and the two-man crew was uninjured. But some members of Congress called for "hot pursuit" the next time it happened although they didn't know how or why it happened the first time.

Americans were still nursing their feelings over this escapade when Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky—although why he butted in isn't clear—announced an American attack on Cuba meant war with Russia.

And Wednesday Khrushchev denounced American "wild men" for talking about invading Cuba and practically promised to eat the "big sharks" of American "imperialism."

So things are back to normal and everybody can relax for half a second.

Minding Your Business

MORE CREATIVE CALLS MAKE SALES SUCCESSES

DEAR CY:

Anyone but my boss will agree there are good and bad times to sell. The customers are good for our sales, but between January and June, we can't find any prospects. The boss is very unreasonable about this, but I may be coming around to his thinking. Could he be right about the fact that there is no "best time" to sell?

Available at your favorite Supermarket or Independent Grocer didn't know what was impossible. We've also watched master salesmen drop into a slump because of too much coffee (or whiskey) talk with other warriors of the road, seeking solace for their depression. According to McGraw-Hill, "The Eastman Research organization has found that the number of available sales prospects varies by less than 2 per cent of the norm during any season." But if you, as a salesman, want to make a career of sales slumping, you have a mountain of reasons. With year round sports, travel, and vacations, it's a certainty some of your customers will be out of town. Selling is not a matter of repeating a formula sales talk. It's making more creative sales calls. Even cold calls in winter can turn into hot sales providing you scheme creatively. To sharpen your wits, read "The Sale Begins When the Customer Says 'No'" by Elmer G. Leterman.

DEAR CY:

made merchandise so parts can't be a problem.

DEAR CY:

Lombard Industries, Ashland, Mass., recently purchased the Contour Motor Scooter from the American Scooter corporation. Contour is assembled from parts made by American concerns and is claimed to be "the only full size portable fold-away vehicle." Sell boosters, but don't thumb your nose at hunters and airplane owners.

CY

DEAR CY:

With pleasure boating becoming such a craze, I would like to stock a small fold-up motor scooter. I own a combination sporting goods store-bike shop, and it would seem a natural. The scooter should be lightweight enough to lift in and out of a boat, so boat owners have mobility on water trips. I don't want a foreign-made model. I want U.S.A. mortgages, and have lower overhead.

The grade or slope of lawn, fertilizing, proper varieties of seed and lawn mowing techniques were cited as the essentials of good lawn management in the first of a series of landscape meetings sponsored by Winnebago and Outagamie County agents Vernon Peckrouty of Winnebago County and Jack Powers of Outagamie County.

Sponsoring the sessions are ve-cational schools of the Fox River Valley, the extension center and county extension services of Winnebago and Outagamie counties. County agents Vernon Peckrouty of Winnebago County and Jack Powers of Outagamie County have arranged the sessions.

Topics for the other meetings will be landscaping the home grounds on March 8, plant materials on March 12 and outdoor flowers on March 19. Each meeting will be from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Slope important.

George Ziegler, extension landscape architect from the College of Agriculture at Madison, emphasized the importance of the proper soil slope at Tuesday night's meeting. Top soil, he said, should be mixed with sub-soil to a depth of five or six inches.

I recommended any one of the blue grasses for sunny lawns. Probably Kentucky blue grass is best.

Business Profits, Rents From Other States Aren't Taxable

BY NORMAN E. SCHLEY, C.P.A.
Q. What is the advantage of using the longer Form 1? My only income in 1962 was from the country and totaled just under $7,000.

A Without more information, home in 1962 May we just disregard the returns? A If you enjoyed no income from Wisconsin sources during 1962, no return will be required. If your former Wisconsin home was rented during 1962, a return should be filed since non-residents are required to report income from rents on Wisconsin property as well as on businesses located in the state.

Q Last year when I changed jobs, my old employer gave me a withholding statement which is now lost. What do I do?

A Ask your former employer for a new one.

Q The bank and our Building and Loan Company simply credit my account with interest and dividends. Since I receive no check, need these amounts be reported?

A Yes. All income, whether credited to your account or paid to you in cash by banks, savings and loan associations, insurance companies, credit unions postal savings accounts etc., must be reported.

U. S. Bonds
Q We regularly purchase and file in our lock box United States Bonds which are earning interest. Should this interest be entered on Line 7 of the Card Form?

A No. Interest on United States bonds should not be reported on the state return since this interest is not subject to Wisconsin taxation.

Q In addition to my husband's salary, he receives a share of the profits on a business inherited from his father and located in Indiana. How do we report this income?

A You do not report this income. Profits on businesses or rents from property located outside the State of Wisconsin are not taxable under state law.

Husband's Salary
Q My husband's salary was just under $10,000 in 1962, and I earned several hundred dollars selling magazine subscriptions. May we use Form 1A?

A If your combined gross incomes amounted to more than $10,000, Form 1 should be used.

Q Both my wife and I work and are filing the short Card Form. On line 9, the standard deduction totals more than $1,000. What do we do?

A Reduce the standard deduction to $1,000. Also check carefully to see that your income did not exceed $10,000 and that interest, dividends, etc., did not exceed $200. If they did, you must switch to Form 1, the 4 page return form.

Prisoners in Solitary Will be Given Diet Of Survival Crackers

ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia prisoners in solitary confinement will be given a diet of survival ration crackers instead of the traditional bread and water starting next month.

Jack M. Forrester, corrections department director, said prisoners in isolation will get a pound of crackers a day, equal to 2,000 calories, plus all the water they want. At present they are given bread and water starting next every fourth day.

The crackers have been approved by the Defense Department for public civil defense shelters.

Local police had been asked by Mississippi authorities to be on the alert for Judon. He was held in the city jail.

Police said they had no other information.

Giant 'Dentist Mirror' Lets You See Under Objects

BY CAPPY DICK

The "Giant Dentist Mirror" shown in Figure 2 is a whale of a lot of fun to use because it enables you to look under and behind your TV or radio set and all such places.

I call it a giant dentist mirror because it resembles that small, round mirror the dentist uses when he examines your teeth. The main difference is that your mirror is attached to a yardstick for a handle and is made of a five-inch makeup or shaving mirror like that in Figure 1. It's really a giant-size contraption.

To assemble it you will need two small blocks of wood two and a half inches long, one and a half inches wide and a quarter inch thick ("A" of Figure 2), a wing nut and bolt ("B" and "C" of Figure 2) and the yardstick ("D" of Figure 2). Bore a small hole near the end of the yardstick ("E" of Figure 2) and through each block. Make it of a size to fit the bolt.

Assemble the parts with the handle of the mirror fastened tightly between the blocks of wood and the yardstick. The loop of the handle should be around the

Appleton Area Guard Units in Recruit Contest

24 State Guardsmen
Will be Awarded
Flights to Hawaii

The two Appleton area National guard units, Combat Support Co and Headquarters Co, 1st Battle Group will take part in "Operation Pineapple" a recruiting contest being conducted by state guard units.

Twenty four guardsmen will win free trips to Hawaii in April based on the number of new recruits they enlist. S-Sgt William Smudde said the local units will conduct an enlistment campaign, publish a weekly progress bulletin and seek newspaper, radio and television advertising.

Smudde said the contest will operate on a points basis. He said all enlisted guardsmen are eligible, but officers do not qualify for each new man recruited. The enlistee is awarded 10 points.

Point System

For recruiting anyone with prior service the enlisting gets 15 points. Recruiting a former guardsman discharged between July 1962 and Jan. 31, 1963 brings 20 points.

Smudde said the first eight trips will be awarded to the guardsmen tallying the most points statewide. The remaining 16 will go to the top recruits in each battle group.

The guard will pay expenses during the Hawaiian stay. Smudde said Combat Support Co. will award prizes to top recruiters within the unit in addition to the top prize of the Hawaiian flight.

Aid Sought For Teachers Of Deaf Pupils

Meeting Planned For Appleton to Get Scholarship

A meeting to organize a scholarship fund for students interested in teaching the deaf will be held Sunday at the Appleton YMCA by a committee of parents, teachers and friends of the Oshkosh School for the Deaf.

The scholarships will be open to all qualified high school graduates from the eight-county area served by the Oshkosh School for the Deaf. Both public and private high school graduates may apply.

The first meeting of the scholarship fund group will be held on the birthday of Alexander Graham Bell, who taught deaf children and taught young people to become teachers of the deaf and founded the Alexander Graham Bell Association for the Deaf in 1890. The fund is being set up because of a critical shortage nationally of classroom teachers of the deaf, and now of supervising teachers, principals and superintendents. The shortage began during World War II, and is expected to continue for at least 10 years.

Gave Scholarships

The PTA of the School for the Deaf in Oshkosh has frequently given scholarships to Oshkosh High School graduates, but as a small group of 60 families was unable to do so regularly.

The scholarship fund group will be incorporated into a non-profit organization and donations will be sought from service clubs, church groups and individuals. Officers will be elected and a name selected for the group at the meeting Sunday.

While the PTA belongs to the parents' section of the Alexander Graham Bell Association for the Deaf, a national organization, the scholarship fund group will be entirely a local organization.

Two needs have become obvious to those interested in maintaining the professional level of the Oshkosh school, said Mrs. Margaret Ferris, a kindergarten teacher at the school and acting chairman of the scholarship fund group. These are interesting capable young people from our area in the challenging field of education of the deaf and offering financial assistance to these worthy young people, she said.

The Wisconsin training center for teachers of the deaf is at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

An autopsy will be performed sometime today, Kemp said, to determine an exact cause of death. Kemp said a report on blood sampling sent to a clinical laboratory in Milwaukee showed the baby's lungs did not contain carbon monoxide and the baby may have been dead prior to the time smoke entered his crib where he had been sleeping. The baby's body was covered with second, second and third degree burns.

Kemp said the absence of carbon monoxide in the lungs of a victim is highly unusual and further investigation into the cause of death is necessary before he can sign the death certificate.

The court order was issued after

Kemp was unable to contact the baby's parents on having the body exhumed. The parents are in Milwaukee visiting relatives, Kemp said. He said he sought permission of Mrs. Mackey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Heribert Kahler, 93 W. Summer St., owners of the cemetery plot, to have the body disinterred, but the request was denied, unless the dead baby is on leave from Germany, where he is serving in the Army.

The baby died as a result of an early morning fire which was started in his bedroom by his parents.

Perform Autopsy

The order was signed by County Coroner Bernard H. H.

Rescue Attempted

Mrs. Mackey's landlord, Richard Sarnowski, 25, attempted to rescue the baby twice, but was unable to find the baby in the smoke-filled room.

A police and fire department investigation showed that Daniel Kahler and his niece Coleen, 3, were playing with matches near the baby's crib about 8:30 a.m.

Flames from the matches spread from clothing and paper in a closet and started the crib afire.

Plans are being made for the second annual home show in the enclosed mall at the Valley Fair Shopping Center on April 24-27, one month earlier than last year.

The show is being sponsored by the Knights of Pythias lodge in co-operation with the Valley Fair Merchants Association.

The show is the Fox Cities' only annual home show, and will feature displays of home equipment, appliances, home furnishings and building products.

Official show hours will be 1 to 9 p.m. each day. There is no admission charge for the show.

List Committee

On the Knights of Pythias home show committee are Ralph Wendlandt, chairman; David Meyer, vice chairman, Waldemar Klein, in charge of booth sales, and Thomas Temple, show adviser.

Joseph Trudell, president of the Valley Fair Merchant's Association, is working with the group in putting on the show. KP members will install the booths.

Autopsy Ordered In Infant's Death

Exact Cause of Death to be Determined, Coroner Declares

The body of 14-month-old Shawn K. Mackesy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kahler, was exhumed to get her two older children out of the upstairs apartment at 111½ W. Packard St. on Feb. 15. The body was examined and to safety but attempts to take Shawn from his crib failed.

Coroner Bernard H. H. Kemp said a report on blood sampling sent to a clinical laboratory in Milwaukee showed the baby's lungs did not contain carbon monoxide and the baby may have been dead prior to the time smoke entered his crib where he had been sleeping.

Rescue Attempted

Mrs. Mackey's landlord, Richard Sarnowski, 25, attempted to rescue the baby twice, but was unable to find the baby in the smoke-filled room.

A police and fire department investigation showed that Daniel Kahler and his niece Coleen, 3, were playing with matches near the baby's crib about 8:30 a.m.

Flames from the matches spread from clothing and paper in a closet and started the crib afire.

Neenah Library Addition Low Bids Total $326,875

11 Fox Cities Firms Submit Estimates

NEENAH — Apparent low bids for the Neenah Library addition totaled $326,875, a tabulation of bids opened Wednesday afternoon by the Public Works Committee showed.

Neenah voters last April passed a referendum authorizing general obligation bonds to be issued for the work not to exceed $350,000.

A 10 per cent architect's fee will be added into the final price, which will probably boost the cost of the addition to more than $350,000 bond issue authorized by voters.

The new addition is expected to fill the needs of the library for the next 10 years. Original plans by the library board called for a $400,000 bond issue for an addition which would serve the city's library needs for the next 25 years.

Plans were drawn by Boottcher and Ginnow, Neenah architects. Same Site

The addition is to be built on the present site of the library. During council discussion before the referendum vote, it was suggested that the city build a library on a different site, rather than in the congested traffic area.

Bids were submitted in seven different areas of the addition work — piling work, general construction, combination piling and general construction work, painting and decorating, plumbing and sewerage, heating, ventilating and air conditioning and electrical work.

Depending on the contractor selected for the general construction work, the addition building will begin anywhere from 10 days after awarding of the contract to the time the frost is out of the ground, and general construction will be finished in from 150 days from starting to 470 days from starting date.

Bids

Bidders and their submitted bids for the piling work, in order of price, include Roland Bleck and Sons, Appleton, $18,604; Infrusion Prepatk, Cleveland, Ohio, $18,820 (substituting pointed concrete pilings for specified wood pilings); McMullen and Pitz, Manitowoc, tied with Theodore Utschig Inc., Appleton, $19,400; Pfeifer Brothers, Neenah, $19,962; Fluor Brothers, Oshkosh, $20,200; Lauer Brothers, Neenah, $20,415; and Haldin Corp., Osh-

Slow Decline Reported in Labor Market

Decrease of 112 Workers Indicated By WSES Office

NEENAH — Following the usual season pattern, employment in the Neenah - Menasha labor market area continued a slow decline from mid-November to mid-January. A. P. Engebretson district manager of the Wisconsin State Employment Service, announced today.

A net decrease for the period of 112 workers, or approximately one per cent of the total employment, was reported by the 43 establishments reporting labor market information. A decrease of approximately 100 workers had been anticipated by these firms at the beginning of the period. A decrease was shown by all the segments of industry reporting except trade and service.

Manufacturing employment, which accounts for by far the greatest part of the total employment in the area, reported a decrease of 85 workers but, in this instance, the bulk of that decrease was in other than the predominant paper industry.

The season decline in total employment was considerably less than that reported for the same period a year ago and less than half of the decline reported from mid-September to mid-November of 1962.

However, total employment of 10,692 in January of this year is 100 less than the 11,800 reported by these firms a year ago. Very little change in employment is anticipated in the next two-month period.

The demand for workers continues to be almost entirely for replacement of normal turnover which is currently, and has been for some time, very low. Job openings available in the local WSES office totaled 191 in January, up slightly from the 183 available in November but down slightly from the 195 in January of 1962.

Included in the openings are those for professional, technical and skilled workers for which qualified applicants are not available locally. From all present indications, the demand for workers will remain low for the next few months, Engebretson said.

After remaining relatively stable for the last few months of 1962, the supply of workers available rose fairly sharply after the first of the year. Work registrations on file ranged from about 650 to 600 during the last three months of 1962 and rose to 834 at the end of January. Part of the increase was due to seasonal factors, with an increase in the number of construction and other outdoor workers temporarily laid off because severe weather curtailed their work.

Statistics Show Public Back in Movie Habit

1962 Big Year for Film Industry,
242 New Theaters Built or Planned

BY JINGO

Film exhibitors are reconciled to being alone in their palaces the evening of April 8 and it's one night they can excuse wide spread television viewing because, in a way, it is the greatest kind of compliment the movie industry can receive.

The fact is that the annual Oscarcast — this year for the first time on Channel 11 with Frank Sinatra instead of Bob Hope at the helm — has the greatest draw of any offering on television. Since the entertainment value of the program is as small as possible the attention it attracts must be involved in the interest in what comes out of those envelopes.

Although the distributors may give TV April 8 they aren't giving them anything else during the year and considering the cinema competition the distributors are doing very well indeed.

According to Department of Commerce reports, 1962 was the largest grossing year for the cinema industry since tub thumping 1949. The $1.45 billion gross represents a whopping 5.8 per cent like over 1961.

On any other day but April 8 you shouldn't be surprised to hear the exhibitors singing, "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad TV?" Since the report indicated the hike came from higher quality product larger admission prices and hard ticket showings, it predicted the upturn trend will continue.

More Foreign Films

However, domestic films continued to slip in number while foreign films increased. In the first 11 months of 1961 there were 165 to 170 feature films released. In 1962 there were 125 released during the comparable period.

In addition to a bevy of highly publicized feature films just champing at the bit to swoop down on the public at advanced prices, the exhibitors have another good reason for optimism—at least they are acting like it. Last year 242 new theaters representing an investment of $90,706,500 were opened placed under construction or announced. The new 12 year record for indoor theaters amounted to 170 cinema palaces costing $68,739,000 and 72 drive ins costing $21,967,500.

In addition to the new construction 759 theaters were renovated at the cost of $24,604,256, and—the most heartening sign of all—196 theaters representing an investment of $13,620,000 were reopened during the year. This latter trend—which last year involved theaters closed from two to 12 years—is expected to continue along with the rest of the palace expansions which will include 300 Cinema All Purpose

Baron Says He Can't Look Poor

LONDON (AP)—Baron Nugent of Clonknot complained that he is too broke to look poor.

That, explained the barren baron, is why he can't get a good enough job to pay off his debts.

"I went for a job as a cab driver in a Savile Row suit and the boss just laughed at me," said the 45-year-old peer.

"He thought I was doing it for bet."

"If I'd worn jeans and a sweat shirt I suppose I would have got the job. What they didn't know was that I couldn't afford even shabby clothes."

"Dammit—all I have are Savile Row suits."

Savile Row is London's top tailoring quarter. Prices start at about $150.

The baron said he tried to get a job as a sales assistant. That was even worse.

The first person he met in the shop had been his father's valet. "I just couldn't bring myself to ask for employment then."

A wine firm started bankruptcy proceedings against the baron Tuesday.

He told a meeting of creditors he owes 1,000 pounds—$2,800—and clears only 8 pounds—$22.40—a week from his job as a clerk.

APPLETON POST-CRESCENT

The Russian Threat Over Cuba

Secretary of State Dean Rusk may have been perfectly right when he said that the threat of Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky to wage nuclear war against the United States if we attacked Cuba was just what "you would expect on the 45th anniversary of the Soviet armed forces." But let no one believe that the speech was one man's opinion or not connected with official policy from the Kremlin. The Russians can send up trial balloons as well as sputniks.

Malinovsky's speech probably had at least two purposes. First, it would help to reassure the Cuban Communists about the strength and willingness to fight of their Russian ally and perhaps to assuage the hurt feelings of some Cubans who may resent what appears to be Russian control and authority over military matters on the island.

Secondly, the speech may have been intended to shake a warning finger at those in the United States who advise that it is high time to move in and clean up on Castro. If the Russians are really getting out, they may be stalling for time. But if the speech was "bluff and bluster," as Senator Richard Russell said, the bluff may serve a larger purpose. If the American authorities give the impression to the Soviet Union that they might not attack Cuba when it was in reality a threat to us because of the danger of exploding a nuclear war, the United States loses this round of table thumping.

Some commentators have criticized the general concern among Americans over the Russian build up in Cuba on the grounds that the weapons involved, now that the missiles are gone, are no real threat. But on the propaganda front, it still is a sad day when the Soviet Union can threaten to wipe us out if we move against a tyrannical regime only ninety miles from home. Maybe we can learn to live with Castro but his Russian friends will have to leave.

The City Garage Again

What gives with the city garage investigation?

Suddenly there is a cry from a group of aldermen, some of them who have been complaining about the operation for years, to drop the inquiry into allegations made about the city garage.

They fail to realize that charges of misconduct on the part of some employees and lack of adequate supervision can not be swept under the rug to lie dormant until the next time a controversy erupts. This would not be fair to all concerned.

We believe Ald. R. P. Groh has the right approach to tackling the problem. Groh said employees should be given a chance to talk about the garage operation and conditions that may or may not exist there without having to bask in the public limelight. "We want to find out the problems and take corrective measures," Groh said, and that seems to make sense.

Suffer Little Children —

The deaths of several small children in Wisconsin in recent months with the possibility that parental mistreatment was a factor are revolting enough to turn the stomachs of most people. But according to a report issued last year after a study of the problem, there may be a lot more cases of child beating than are ever known or acknowledged.

The report emphasized that hospital authorities and doctors should look carefully into suspicious cases when an injured child is brought in for treatment after supposedly falling down stairs or out of bed or a high chair. This is especially serious if the child comes back several times.

Some babies may be indeed accident prone but the bruise from a fall can sometimes be differentiated from an injury from a fist. The other parent in the case is also urged to report any beatings perhaps to save the life of the child. A brute who would slap around a small baby to stop it from crying or to make it go to sleep wouldn't hesitate a second or third time. Psychiatrists have long warned about the possible effects upon attitudes in later life stemming from excessive brutality suffered by youngsters.

There is something seriously wrong with an adult who, from drink or simply inhumanity, takes out his personal frustrations by beating up a child.

Forsooth!

There is something reassuring in the announcement by a scientific investigative team that there really is something big in Scotland's Loch Ness.

A monster was first reported swishing his tail and breathing sparks in the lake more than 1400 years ago. Whether later monsters seen were the same one or rugged descendants, the description of a creature at least forty feet long with spines and big eyes has been much the same. The creature has been camera shy but there is at least one photograph of an object that, with a little imagination, could be a monster.

At any rate the investigative team ran down all leads, interviewed people who said they had glimpsed Nessie and studied the action of fish. "We came to the final conclusion that there was some unidentified animate object in Loch Ness," the naturalist leader of the team reported to a British TV audience.

For most of us this is a confusing century. Faced with Einstein's formula on energy which led to the splitting of the atom, boats and planes which float on a cushion of air, the immensity of science techniques in space capsules and anti-missiles, set theories, and the complexity of household gadgets, it is rather comforting to find out that old monsters do exist.

And now how about that Abominable Snowman?

Heat in Politics

Some of our legislative representatives at Madison, according to the dispatches, are aggrieved because of the pressure being applied to them on current legislative proposals such as the minimum age for drinking beer, the legitimacy of merchandise trading stamps and others.

The best reply of modern times to such frail spirits was once uttered by former President Harry Truman, who had a genius for the apt employment of the colloquial idiom.

We commend it to those of our men in Madison who may have fancied that they could sit in the legislature without exposure to the brute forces of politics.

Those who cannot endure the heat, Mr. Truman observed, should avoid the kitchen.

People's Forum

Taxpayer Thinks County Board Acted Wisely on Hot Mix Plant

Editor: Post-Crescent:

Because the County Board voted to purchase a hot mix plant there has appeared numerous articles in the past month in the People's Forum which accused the Outagamie County Board of irresponsible government against free enterprise and on the road to socialism. I believe nothing is farther from the truth and such accusations are completely unfair and unjust. I would say they should be condemned for their foresight.

When these gentlemen voted for a hot mix plant there were no differences between them. Much has been done since the advent of a County Highway Department. When roads were first constructed and maintained by horses and manual labor, then as traffic and load conditions increased so was the necessity to supply the highway department with modern construction machinery to keep up with the trend of more and better roads. The county board has done through the years and the purchase of a hot mix plant is merely another step to keep up with modern highway construction.

Why is it after all these years of buying various types of construction equipment they accuse the board of trying to wreck free enterprise by the purchase of a machine that will give us a better material for maintenance and for the construction of new roads. The reason for the purchase of a hot mix plant is the dire necessity of replacing the old method of a cold mix with a material that can better stand the increased burden of more and heavier traffic loads.

Outagamie County is blessed with good land for agriculture but is not conducive to easy road construction and maintenance, therefore we have to use the best facilities at hand to build and keep our roads in good condition, that's why it is just good sense to acquire a hot mix plant to keep up with the modern trend of road construction.

Let me stress the point that the Outagamie County Highway Dept. is strictly a service organization charged with the responsibility of maintaining our state and county trunk systems, and with the purchase of a hot mix plant they are merely extending that service where they can give the public better roads to travel on.

Instead of hurting free enterprise by the purchase of a hot mix plant I believe it will be advantageous to it for the following reason. Outagamie County has numerous producers of aggregate, to just one owner of a hot mix plant large enough for highway purposes. Just so happens the owner of this hot mix plant is also a producer of aggregate, so why should just one firm be entitled to all the aggregate used in asphalt work just because he happens to have an asphalt plant. If the county has their own asphalt plant the aggregate will be purchased by bid, as in the past, and with competitive bidding they will stand a chance to secure a share of the aggregate business to which they are entitled. Although one article was printed signed by a number of prominent Outagamie County citizens which gave the public the impression that the County Highway Department has been purchasing hot mix asphalt from contractors, this information is entirely ridiculous as I checked with the department and found to date they have never purchased one shovel full of hot mix asphalt for use on the county trunk system. If the state has any major construction job calling for the use of hot mix, it is the state policy to ask for bids from contractors to do the work, so the county can not take anything away from the contractors.

The law prohibits the county from engaging in any private work, so again they can lose nothing there. The law does allow the county to perform work for towns, villages and other municipalities but it was stated time and again in their articles the contractors receive proposals from contractors to furnish the highway department with hot mix asphalt, and the price per ton takes on the aspect of having the county over the so called barrel, then it is high time the County Board protects the taxpayers and will purchase a hot mix plant, if they can afford it, with a solution to the problem. Let them come forth with a concrete proposal to show their good faith to guarantee the county a supply of hot mix when they need it and at what price. Certainly they have some idea what they can sell the county hot mix per ton loaded on county trucks for patching, or per ton mile delivered and laid down on new construction. Or are they afraid by setting a price repercussions might arise on jobs they performed in the past and will perform in the future, my guess is they much rather build up public sentiment against the county purchasing a hot mix plant, then if they can accomplish their purpose they can still maintain their high standard of living they been having. If and should the county receive proposals from contractors to furnish the highway department with hot mix asphalt, and the price per ton takes on the aspect of having the county over the so called barrel, then it is high time the County Board protects the taxpayers and will purchase a hot mix plant, if they can afford it, with a solution to the problem. New York Mayor Studies Next Step In Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York City newspaper publishers report formally in writing today to Mayor Robert F. Wagner on their position in the dispute which led to the 83-day-old blackout of the city's nine major dailies.

Wagner received a similar report Wednesday from Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union whose strike against four of the papers led to the blackout. Contents of the report were not made public.

At the publishers' request, Wagner postponed the time for their report until today.

Wagner—who may soon change his role from mediator to umpire and recommend a settlement formula—had asked for the reports from both sides.

He said his next step would depend on whether the reports "call for any further talks or not."

The strike by 3,000 printers has thrown 17,000 other newspaper employees out of their regular jobs.

In Cleveland, where 3,000 people have been out of work for 91 days because of strikes against the city's two newspapers, a contract agreement has been reached with a second striking union, the Teamsters.

But the closed-down Plain Dealer and the Press & News and eight other unions still have not reached contract terms. Three unions are still on strike.

Teamster Local 455's members are expected to ratify the two-year contracts Monday night.

Telstar Doesn't Need Commands

NEW YORK (AP) — The Telstar communications satellite has failed to respond to commands from the earth for the past week, the Bell Telephone Laboratories announced today.

The satellite, sent into space last July, had stopped functioning previously in November but was restored to operation Jan. 3.

Soviet Ship With Small Number of Troops Quits Cuba

U.S. Denies Soviet Notice of Keeping Some Units on Island

WASHINGTON (AP) — One Soviet ship carrying only a small number of troops has left Cuba for Russia under a Soviet promise to pull several thousand out of Cuba by March 15.

Reporting this today, officials said four other ships are known to have been on the way to Cuba. One of them is understood to be very close to the island. The four ships have a potential capacity to haul away eight or nine thousand Soviet soldiers.

Presumably the one ship known to have sailed with military passengers is the luxury liner Baltika, reported Feb. 21 to have set out with a then undetermined number aboard. The big ship had put in at Havana only a few days earlier.

The state department said, meanwhile, that it has not received any notice from the Soviet government of intention to leave some troops in Cuba indefinitely.

Asst. Secretary Robert Manning, in charge of public relations, was asked about a New York Times news service report that the Soviets they intend to leave a military force in the island after the withdrawal of several thousand troops. The story said that was interpreted Washington as meaning a pull-out of up to 7,000, leaving about 10,000.

No Notification Given

"We have received no such notification," Manning said. "Nor have we drawn any such inference from any communication or conversation with them."

The Soviet government sent word earlier this month that several thousand of its troops would be withdrawn by the middle of March. U.S. officials estimated that the number to be removed would run between 3,000 and 8,000.

Apparently this estimate was based in part on shipping understood to be available for quick transportation.

Officials said that since the number of troops and military technicians in Cuba now is around 17,000, the removal of several thousand obviously would not provide for withdrawal of the entire force under the present Moscow commitment. But they said the

Lewis defeated Jeff Clifford Alford in Tuesday's election by a margin of 12-1.

Late Wednesday, Lewis visited the Democratic Party headquarters in the Morrison Hotel and appeared jubilant over the election outcome, the headquarters secretary, Mrs. Mary Mullin, said.

She said Lewis told her that he had moved his office one block from 3712 Roosevelt Road to the new address.

Lewis, whose vote was reported as 12,189 to Alford's 8,888, was formerly a city building inspector.

He was the first Negro to serve as alderman of the 24th Ward which is estimated to have a population 80 per cent Negro.

That was how a witness described an explosion and fire in a missile test area at General Dynamics Corp.'s Pomona plant Wednesday night. Twelve persons were injured, five seriously.

"It blew the hell out of the test area," the witness said.

C. D. Cornell, assistant to the president, said the blast occurred while scientists were testing a missile.

Anderson arrived here with his family three weeks ago after being reconciled with his wife in Idaho last April 10. The woman was raped.

Civil authorities released Anderson Nov. 26 after accepting his confession of another man, but Anderson was rearrested by the Air Force which kept him in custody until Jan. 29. After a military hearing, he was exonerated and honorably discharged.

Ex-Airman Takes Job

Cleared in Killings, He Resumes Normal Life

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Gerald M. Anderson, former airman cleared for murder and then cleared, has taken two big steps toward resuming a normal life.

Anderson arrived here with his wife and young son, a fellow airman at the Mountain Home Air Force Base in President Abdallah Salai charged Britain with aggression, claiming British tanks from the neighboring Aden protectorate had invaded the town of Harib, in East Yemen, to help besieged royalist forces there.

In Cairo, the British Embassy denied the charge. "No such aggression has taken place," the embassy said. The British said the troops had only driven an invading force out of territory of the protectorate.

Says 'Cruel Disease of Discrimination' Exists in Most Parts of Nation

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy appealed to a divided Congress today to reinforce the program that the program was tailored in realistic style, that it ought to be passed, and there is a good chance it will.

In the century since Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, the President's message said, slavery has vanished but progress for the Negro has been blocked and delayed too often.

"Equality before the law," he said, "has not always meant equal treatment and opportunity. And the harmful, wasteful and wrongfull results of racial discrimination and segregation still appear in virtually every aspect of national life, in virtually every part of the nation."

Urge National Effort

Kennedy credited his administration with a sparkling two-year record on civil rights. But he said a broad national effort still is needed, an effort embracing state and local governments, private citizens and organizations, and the congressional machinery.

His requests for legislation are expected to be submitted within 10 days or so as three separate bills.

They fall into these classifications:

1. Education.

The main request here was that Congress authorize a program to provide federal know-how and money to push desegregation in public schools in communities

9 Killed as Jet Tanker Explodes At Alaskan Base

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A KC135 jet tanker taking off from Eielson Air Force Base exploded over a guard house at an entrance to the field Wednesday night, killing nine persons.

All seven aboard the plane were killed. The other two died when the explosion flattened the guard house and a nearby waiting room.

A witness said that as the plane passed over the guard house, flames appeared and then it exploded.

The four-engined plane veered to the left and crashed about a quarter of a mile from the gate. It smashed into the Alaska Highway, which runs by the base to Fairbanks, 26 miles to the north.

On board the KC135, used to refuel Strategic Air Command bombers in flight, were the pilot, a copilot, a navigator and four technicians. The tanker was on a refueling mission.

Yemen Threatens to Use Force Against British Troops

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Yemen's republican government has threatened to use force against British troops if claims are aiding diehard supporters of Yemen's deposed monarchy.

Sana's radio broadcast the threat Wednesday night. Earlier Yemeni President Abdallah Salai charged Britain with aggression, claiming British tanks from the neighboring Aden protectorate had invaded the town of Harib, in East Yemen, to help besieged royalist forces there.

In Cairo, the British Embassy denied the charge. "No such aggression has taken place," the embassy said. The British said the troops had only driven an invading force out of territory of the protectorate.

Confesses Guilt

The man whose confession freed Anderson is Theodore Dickie, an itinerant laborer originally from Marinette, Wis. Dickie also charged with killing and raping a 10-year-old girl at Boise, Idaho, awaiting trial.

A point of controversy was a confession obtained by Air Force investigators from Anderson when he was first arrested last April. The 25-year-old airman repudiated it, saying the Air Force coerced him into signing it.

Hike Phone Rate In Forest Junction

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—Rate increases of one dollar a month for the customers of the Forest Junction exchange of the Stockbridge and Sherwood Telephone Co., will wipe out operating losses and permit a relatively low rate of return of three percent on plant investment, the public service commission said in approving the revision of the exchange charges.

The commission also said the firm intends to convert the Forest Junction exchange to dial service in order to bring standards up to those maintained at the Stockbridge and Sherwood exchanges.

Hortonville Plan Group Gets Approval

Village Board Votes New Commission Under State Law

HORTONVILLE—The Hortonville village board has voted to form a planning commission. The action was based on a recommendation of village president Raymond Warner.

The village attorney has been instructed to draft an ordinance which will comply with state statutes.

A meeting of the long range planning committee has been called for March 5, to discuss plans for the new planning commission. Members of the committee are trustees Clair Poole, Leonard Buchman, William Weyers and president Warner.

Reads Letter

President Warner read a letter he had written in answer to the Outagamie County board of supervisors regarding the wayside park. In the letter Warner stated that the village board has agreed it does not own the land in question so it will not accept the return of the land from the county.

Board members said the county committee in charge of the wayside park should meet with the village building and grounds committee which will bring their findings back to the board.

The village board is asking cooperation and assistance from the people regarding peddlers. Citizens of the village are urged by the board to request a peddlers license from peddlers who solicit in the village.

This license must be issued by Police Chief Douglas Jones. If peddlers do not have such a license the police should be notified.

Church Groups Can Use Gym

Clintonville Board Votes to Rescind Previous Motion

CLINTONVILLE—The senior high school gym can be used for a religious meeting, board of education members decided Tuesday night.

The board voted to rescind its Feb. 12 motion which refused the gym for any religious group. The motion was made by Royce Young and seconded by John Buehrens.

They pointed out that on the basis of new information on section 40.30 of state statutes the leasing was legal.

The question arose when the Lutheran Laymen's League of St. Paul, Minnesota, asked if eastern markets compared with western markets paid by Wisconsin handlers.

"As a result Wisconsin handlers had been using the gym for such rallies for several years."

The board had voted to deny use of the gym for religious groups on an interpretation of state law.

Clintonville A of C Names New Officers

CLINTONVILLE—Reuben Nelson was elected president of the Clintonville Association of Commerce at a breakfast meeting of the board of directors Wednesday morning at Weiland's restaurant.

A. C. Torborg was elected vice president and Lyle Harrison, treasurer.

It was an organizational meeting of the board following the election of four directors to three-year terms at the annual meeting Monday. New directors are Mert Albert, Howard Huntzmark, Gary Below and Don Jirschke. Other directors who continue on the board in addition to the officers are Roy Eberhardt, Quentin Swain, Sherwood Lorenz, Norman Erickson and Reuben Lendved.

The directors whose terms expired were Hugo Schauder, retiring president, Orval Malueg, retiring treasurer, Ralph Lendved and Oscar Hoh.

Kenneth Spearbraker is secretary of the organization.

Sermon Topic Set

BEAR CREEK—"Jesus I Will Ponder Now" will be the title of the sermon for the communion service at 8 p.m. today at Grace Lutheran Church. The same topic was the theme for the Ash Wednesday service at Trinity Lutheran Church. The Rev. Carl Furt is pastor of both churches.

They might also visit the county to see a modern dairy farm, he added.

These are sidelights, but the tourist magnet is recreation. To grab a bigger share of the mounting quantity of tourist dollars, Montney's first recommendation was a united Chamber of Commerce effort.

Instead of having the civic advancement groups in each community pulling in opposite directions with inter-community funds developing, Montney proposed a central committee with representatives of all the groups and the power to draw on the material resources of any local unit.

Calumet County Tourist Potential Discussed in Talk

Lack of Accommodations Cited As Main Lack Along Lakeshore

BY DON KAMPFER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

STOCKBRIDGE—Attractions, advertising, accommodations and attitude are the keys to a successful tourist industry, Lawrence Montney, University of Wisconsin recreation area development specialist, told a group of Calumet County civic leaders here Tuesday night.

Calumet County, especially the lakeshore area, has been generally endowed with attractions, the primary requirement, but leaves something to be desired in the other departments, Montney implied. Promotional advertising aimed at attracting tourists to the area has been limited and accommodations are scarce.

"Touristry"—a new word which Montney said was being applied to the tourist business—is a fast growing field. There are more people, living in congested areas with more time, more money and more mobility than ever before. This accounts for tourism's rapid rise, Montney said.

Splits Dollar

A look at how a tourist spends his money could aid in the inventory of needs and assets, Montney said. About 50 to 55 cents of the tourist dollar goes for food and lodging. Another 15 cents goes for transportation, 15 cents for clothing and equipment, 10 cents for amusements and five cents for personal services. With the current limited lodging, the major share is escaping the area.

County Agent Orrin Meyer, who arranged for Montney's appearance, keynoted the topic when he said that once he strove to make the county's acres more productive for crops. Now a new source of revenue is opening up for land owners.

Agriculture has advanced with automation and provides fewer jobs each year. Industrial development has made great strides in the county in recent years, and now this virtually untapped source of revenue is stirring and could further add to the county's economic stability.

Small Decrease In Employment Seen for Area

Appleton WSES Office Reports 1,432 Registered

An expected decrease of less than 1 per cent in total employment is seen for Outagamie County, Fred R. Gehrk, district manager of the Wisconsin State Employment Service reports.

However, employment in the last two months decreased from 13,235 to 12,871 for the 60 establishments cooperating with the WSES. The layoff rate during January was 24 per 1,000, compared to 9 per 1,000 for November.

New hires dropped from 17 per 1,000 in November to 13 per 1,000 in January.

Worker demand is limited to replacement needs, Gehrk reported. The demand for office workers and professional people continues to be good.

At the end of January, the Appleton office of the WSES had 1,432 workers registered, an increase of 40 per cent over two months ago and about 15 per cent greater than one year ago.

The bulk of the workers registered at the office is made up of workers waiting to be recalled to former jobs.

Waupaca Boys Have Derby at Annual Dinner

Home-Made Racers Main Attraction at Blue, Gold Event

WAUPACA — About 115 people attended the annual Blue and Gold Banquet of Cub Scout Pack 136 Monday night in the multi-purpose room at Central Grade School.

Featured event of the night was the "Pinewood derby" entered by 43 of 46 scouts. It was a family project with each cub receiving a pinewood kit to make a racer.

A ramp occupied the center of the room and each Cub Scout raced his home-made racer when he entered the room. They were weighed in and were eliminated if they weighed over five ounces.

Fathers and mothers assisted their sons in building the racers, which in instances were decorated with fancy gills, outside muffers, bumpers and crash bars. One even had a driver. The kit consisted of a block of pine wood, four wheels, four nails and two axles. The boys and their parents carved out the racers.

The champion racer belonged to Jeff Johnson, who won the final event. Runners-up in the speed event were Ralph Plummer, Mark Porrey, Ricky Whitman, Tommy Hansen and Mark Pohl. The racer built by Dean High received the prize for being the best designed.

Fathers Officiating

Fathers officiating in the race as starters, judges, weighers and computers were Randy Hansen, Frank Smith, Robert Whitman, James "Bud" Jenson, Bruce Burghart, Kenneth Porrey, C. K. Petersen, Tom Lewis, Vance High, George Stoefel, Kermit Hansen, Jerry Telfer, Charles Weishrod, Angelo Tomaras, Ward Fonstad, Dr. Kenneth Haman and Hubert Moore.

School Board Vote Change Request Fails

BRILLION — A petition to change the method of electing school board members for Brillton School District was defeated at a public meeting Monday evening.

According to the petition, bearing 102 signatures, school board members would have been elected at the general election the first Tuesday in April. Papers would have to have been filed 20 days prior to the election.

School board members are nominated and elected at the annual school meeting in July.

Wilmer Struebing, state assemblyman, led discussion for the opposition. He feared there would be a light turnout of voters in an election year. It also was feared rural areas may be penalized.

Struebing said he felt the April election would be confusing because of the complexity of the school district. Election officials would have a difficult time establishing boundary lines, he said.

Clarence Wolf and William Hoellke supported the petition. Wolf felt a general election would improve voter turnout. He also felt there would be more candidates and more time for voters to learn about the candidates.

Heimbach Heads Stockbridge Firm

STOCKBRIDGE — Jacob Heimbach has been re-elected president of Stockbridge Enterprises Inc.

Drive for Youth Camp Gains Support

Calumet Groups Studying Use of County Park Area

CHILTON — The drive to establish a youth camp in Calumet County gained support recently when the county 4-H Leaders Executive Board vowed its assistance.

The action was the outgrowth of an informal meeting of county youth leaders in Campfire Girls, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Boys Clubs and the 4-H organization several months ago at New Holstein.

At the New Holstein meeting, the plan for a county campsite was devised. Each organization was asked to study the matter and report their findings and recommendations.

County Park is being eyed as a possibility, and the county owned acreage is being studied. The site was designated for camp development many years ago but nothing was done to get a camping area established. Charles Nikolai, 4-H agent, pointed out.

A comprehensive plan for a camp may be prepared soon, taking advantage of some of the county's facilities.

Few county youth groups avail themselves to the local facilities, Nikolai pointed out. Most go outside the county and wind up buying camping equipment, supplies and food elsewhere, he explained, adding it was a revenue loss for local businessmen.

Wolf River Forest Group Lists Goals

Six Points Outlined At First Meeting Of Advisory Unit

A six-point goal for the forest viscosity committee of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission was outlined by commission Chairman Gordon Buboltz at the committee's first meeting Shawano Wednesday night.

The six points are: Manage forest lands so scenic values are enhanced throughout basin, keeping forests and for-plantations beautiful.

Help insure continuance of high employment in the wood-using industry of the region.

Provide for an increasing supply of raw wood from forest land in the basin by intensification of best management practices on private and public lands.

Make adequate provisions for increasing recreational demands placed on the lands.

Provide suitable habitat for forest animals, consistent with the carrying capacity of the forest.

Maximize and stabilize the flow of water through proper management of tree cover on the watershed portion of the Wm. R. River.

Recommend Solutions

The committee will develop recommendations to forest management, tree planting, and harvesting problems common to the seven-county Wolf River Basin area.

Members need the over-riding task of the committee should be dissemination of information to private owners of forested areas.

Generalized economic, scenic and recreational benefits to the individual and the public can be gained through increased tree plant and proper harvesting methods.

The committee said the cost of living and informational assistance available to private landowners can be implemented only through the cooperation of the private owners, it said.

In addition to rendering economic benefits to the owner, increased tree planting and proper harvesting methods also preserve wildlife, for hunting and fishing; prevent stream meandering; preserve roadside scenery, the committee said.

E. Ehlly, assistant supervisor of forestry for the State Conservation Department, said although lumber usage is decreasing, usage in the paper industry is increasing steadily.

He said that by 1966, overall usage will be increasing presenting Outagamie County with a challenge.

At the meeting were county auditor Donald Herman and K. J. O'Leary, Thulman Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna.

Spring Coming Out of Hibernation - Friday

It looks like spring's finally beginning to come out of hibernation.

Lows early this morning hover near the zero mark, but by 9 a.m., the official Appleton temperature had reached 16 above.

The U.S. Weather Bureau, Arthur Straubel Field, Green Bay, said this morning the weekend will be mild. The bureau said temperatures will drop to a minus again tonight, but climb to 20 above Friday.

Appleton's cooperative observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau, the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., recorded a low of 2 above this morning and a high of 21 Wednesday. At 9 a.m., the wind was calm.

Appleton observer Ralph Dorn, 136 N Story St., recorded a high of 24 above Wednesday and a low of 1 below this morning. Dorn said it should begin snowing again by Friday night.

Twin Cities Colder

The Twin Cities seemed to be having a little trouble getting on the warm-weather bandwagon this morning. While Appleton was enjoying a plus 16 at 9 a.m., the Weatherscope at WNAM Radio, Neenah, reported a reading of only 5 above.

The station's low was below Appleton's, a minus 4 at 5 a.m. Winds at Radio Park shifted from the northwest to southwest between 6 and 7 a.m., and reached a velocity of 20 miles an hour by 9 a.m.

Chilton reported the highest low in the Fox Cities area this morning. WHK-TV recorded a temperature drop to only 7 above.

At night the coldest spot was Stevens Point with 17 below zero. Green Bay, Wausau and Eau Claire had 12 below. Superior 5 below, La Crosse 4 below, Lone Rock 4 above, Madison 5 above Milwaukee 14 and Beloit 17.

It was still chilly in the Southeast but temperatures were much higher than 24 hours earlier in most areas. The cold air dipped southward into northern Florida. Readings were mostly in the 30 or upper 20s, including 28 in Tallahassee, Fla.

As the fresh batch of frigid cold moved across the Canadian border into the northern Midwest, the mercury dropped below zero in many areas. It was -15 in Pellston, Mich.; -9 in Marquette, Mich.; -8 in International Falls, Minn., and -7 in Eau Claire, Wis.

The cold air was expected to cover most of the north central region and northern sections of the Ohio Valley by tonight and Friday morning.

In New England, the only sub-zero cold readings were in northern Maine, including -6 in Millinocket and -3 in Caribou.

Lawrence Sees Congress Will Pass Measure Cutting Taxes

BILL Won't Hold
Any Key Proposals
Of Administration

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON—A bill reducing income tax rates will be enacted by Congress some time this year. In the measure will be some provisions called "reforms" but hardly any of the major proposals which the Administration has submitted.

This is the outlook today on Capitol Hill, and Lawrence President Kennedy is prepared to accept the result as a compromise. He hasn't given up his drive to get the "reforms" he wants, but the opposition in Congress is too formidable for him to let a hassle over these "reforms" kill all chance of passing a tax bill this year.

"What we need," says the President, "is the bill this year, and nothing should stand in its way."

Mr. Kennedy made it clear this week to a symposium on economic growth, sponsored by the American Bankers Association, that he still prefers a tax cut with "reforms." If, however, there is no tax cut at all, he predicts a deficit bigger than the one President Eisenhower encountered after the recession in 1968. Mr. Kennedy's exact words caused an arching of eyebrows. He said:

"In other words, the deficit, without a tax cut, would then be far higher than the projected deficit we face with a tax cut—higher even than the record deficit of $12.4 billion which followed the recession of 1958, only a few months after the President of the United States had submitted a budget which provided for a surplus of a half-billion dollars. That is how quickly a deficit can unbalance the budget."

Kennedy Forecast
But what is the explanation of President Kennedy's own forecast of a surplus that turned out to be a deficit? In January 1962, Mr. Kennedy told Congress that the budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, would show a surplus of $50 million—a balanced budget with a modest surplus. Yet, before many months had passed, a deficit was indicated, and the latest estimate is that the red figure will be around $8 billion at the end of the fiscal year this June.

The year 1962, moreover, wasn't regarded here as a recession year. In fact, Mr. Kennedy in his speech to the bankers this week said: "The American economy is now in its twenty-fourth month of recovery." This means "recovery" started just after the Kennedy inauguration — a convenient date, politically speaking.

But how did the President make such a mistake if it wasn't a recession that produced his deficit? The official figures in his budget messages explain what happened. Mr. Kennedy estimated his receipts for fiscal year 1963 at $7.5 billion more than they are turning out to be, and he permitted expenses to go up by an additional $1.8 billion over his budget. It can be said here, too, that this is just another way that a "deficit can unbalance a budget."

One of the items that was overestimated by the Administration was corporate profits. Instead of the expected $56 billion, they turned out to be $51 billion. The year 1962, of course, saw a decline in the profits of steel and related industries. It was in April, 1962, that President Kennedy declared war on the U.S. Steel Corporation and thrust the power of the Federal government into the normal process of price-making in a major industry. Repercussions followed in other industries. The profits of the major steel companies showed a drop for the year 1962, and dividends were cut. The U.S. Treasury lost a substantial amount of revenue because of the fiasco in steel.

Another crisis is soon to arise in the steel industry, as the labor unions have the right to re-open their wage contracts after May 1. Already there is some stockpiling of steel by automobile manufacturers and other companies to take care of expected shortages if a strike occurs. Should a strike be avoided, this could subsequently mean a let-down. Situations like these show how the national economy can be seriously interrupted and the power imposed to affect wage costs, to impose wage costs, to increase prices, and to cause sales volume to drop.

Bankers Speech
The President, in his speech here to the bankers, did not touch on these problems except to say that "we must use prudence in the management of our wages and prices." When—after reading his prepared address—he was asked specifically by one of the bankers if it wasn't "more important than previously to prevent wage rates from increasing faster than productivity," Mr. Kennedy replied:

"I would think that wage rates would follow—if I hope they would."

follow the general guidelines which have been suggested on several occasions, which are tied to the principle which you just described, that wage rates should be tied to productivity increases. The difficulty, of course, is arguing that productivity increases and also discussing how increases or granted deviated considerably from the so-called "guideline." Neglect of the labor problem has more to do with deficits and recessions than meets the eye of the politicians in Washington.

Tests Now Given

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY—Written examinations for private pilot licenses can now be taken at the Federal Aviation Agency's flight service station at Austin Straubel Field, Green Bay. Norman Birkholz, chief of the station, has announced.

Giving the examinations by FAA flight service stations is a new national policy. In the past, examinations were administered about once a month by traveling examiners.

Birkholz said that persons wanting to take the written examination should telephone the FAA station for an appointment. He said examinations could be held during the day or at night, including weekends and holiday division.

Dairymen Told to Relate Industry's Economic Truths

Official Cites Communication Problem as Major State Trouble

State dairymen were advised at the Fox Cooperative in the Town of Menasha Wednesday afternoon, said the state dairy industry if they hope to develop new markets for their products.

Frank Meyer, public relations director for Consolidated Badger Cooperative, Shawano, speaking at an area dairy industry conference hadn't changed in ten years.

"We're not as creative and forward-looking as dairymen in other areas," he said, "and communications is our most genuine problem. It's a small wonder that some farmer's ideas are economic outrages."

"And young farmers, too, are a problem. They are future-minded," he said, "and want to know what cooperatives are doing to help them."

Far-Reaching Benefits

He said the benefits of an education program would have far-reaching effects on young farmers, legislation and the consuming public.

"We, in Wisconsin, have a parochial interest in dairying," Meyer said, "and we should learn to be concerned about our relative position in the industry."

"Our concern for the future of dairying should be many times the concern of dairymen elsewhere in the U.S.A. Other states have alternative industries to replace lost income when their dairy industries are depressed."

"Southern dairy farms are profiting by their advancements and the publicity given to them. But these so-called advancements were accomplished facts in Wisconsin 20 years. Yet national dairy companies are leaving Wisconsin to process in southern areas."

"We must take action immediately," Meyer stated, "so that we are not outmaneuvered or outlegislated by these areas."

"Our strength and advances must come from a stronger dairy section of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture Cooperatives."

"They have come a long way toward solving our problems, and with our cooperation, can go a lot further."

"With the dairy section's help, we should get the federal government to improve the Federal Dairymen's program (for surplus milk), plus our efficiency could be our plus our efficiency could be our two greatest plus factors in Wisconsin."

Argoud was arraigned before a magistrate's court yesterday to hear the subversive charge that carries the death sentence. He was already under death sentence in absentia for his role in the two greatest plus factors in Wisconsin.

But with his capture that verdict was automatically set aside.

The 47-year-old terrorist leader appeared in court with wounds on his face, blackened eyes and a broken tooth. Official sources of the Department of Agriculture said he told the magistrate he had been beaten and kidnapped in College of Agriculture, and Monday night from a hotel room Carroll Benson, a member of the Munich, Germany, by two men staff of the Wisconsin State Department of Agriculture.

The police report that Argoud had been turned in by the secret army aroused considerable skepticism in Paris, and speculation was wide-spread that he had been tracked down and kidnapped by French intelligence agents.

which need and seek financial help.

2. Civil Rights Commission

First set up in 1957, the commission goes out of business next November unless Congress acts. Kennedy asked that its life be extended at least four years. And he asked that Congress authorize it to expand into a national clearing house to provide information, advice and technical help to any public or private agency which wants them.

3. Voting rights.

Kennedy mentioned this first and gave it more attention than any other of his bids for legislation.

"The right to vote in a free American election," the President said, "is the most powerful and precious right in the world—and it must not be denied on the grounds of race or color."

Priority in Courts

He recommended, therefore, that priority treatment be granted voting suits in federal courts. He proposed that while the suits are pending federal referees be empowered to pass upon qualifications of would-be voters. (Under present law, referees can be appointed only after a court finds that discrimination exists.)

These two requests—administration officials said each offers an entirely new idea—would apply to both federal and state elections.

But there would be these limitations on referees:

They would follow only state law and state regulations—these decisions would not be changed. Their decisions would be subject to court review. They would serve only in some 200 counties, mainly in five Southern states, in which less than 15 per cent of any racial group is registered to vote. Officials described the bid for interim referees as important because in terms of time Negroes might be able to register and vote immediately rather than in two or three years.

2. Other Proposals

Kennedy had two other requests, applicable only in federal elections.

One was for a specific ban on the application of different tests and standards to different people. The other was for a declaration that anyone with a sixth grade education is presumed to be literate.

Since a presumption could be challenged, this latter proposal would be less stringent than a provision of a literacy test bill that fell by the wayside in the last Congress. Last year's measure would have made it a rule of federal law that anyone who passed the sixth grade was literate for voting purposes.

While he was at it, Kennedy urged every remaining state legislature to join the 13 which have ratified the proposed 24th Amendment to the Constitution which would outlaw the payment of poll taxes as a requirement for voting.

United States expects progressive reduction of the force. Secretary of State Dean Rusk has said a continued Soviet military presence in Cuba is not acceptable to the United States. Privately officials say this country's aim is to obtain complete withdrawal of Soviet military forces from Cuba.

"...Moscow understands the desire of the Kennedy Administration to see as many troops as possible removed." But, according to Soviet diplomats, Moscow also expects the U.S. to understand that, at least for the time being, it is impossible to think about evacuating the entire Soviet military establishment from the island...

"...The analysis within the administration is that presence of Soviet troops in Cuba—whether 10,000 or 17,000—is not likely to enhance visibly the Communist efforts to spread unrest throughout Latin America."

"The belief was that such revolutionary unrest was furthered to a much larger degree by the political activities of Cuban sympathizers in Latin America—including those from the student cadres trained in Cuba—and by the continuing social, economic and political inadequacies in the hemisphere republics."

$9.6 Million Cost for Rebuilding Bevatron

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The University of California's atom-smashing Bevatron has been rebuilt at a cost of $9.6 million for renewed research into nuclear mysteries.

"A large part of what we know about the particles of matter has come out of research with the Bevatron," Dr. Edwin M. McMillan, Lawrence Radiation Laboratory director, said Wednesday.

The 10,000-ton machine went to work in 1954 as a high energy atom smasher developing 6.2 billion electron volts. It was the tool Lawrence Laboratory scientists used in discovering the antiproton in 1955 and the antineutron in 1956. The Atomic Energy Commission financed the remodeling work requiring eight months.

Railroad's Part of Safety Equipment Costs Protested

MADISON (AP)—The League of Wisconsin Municipalities protested Wednesday a proposal under which railroads would be charged only 10 percent of the cost of installing protective devices at railroad crossings.

Present law provides that the state pay up to 50 per cent of such costs.

A Senate bill heard by the State Highway Committee would limit the railroads' share of costs to 10 per cent, thus boosting the state's share to 50 per cent.

In opposing the measure, Ed Johnson, representing the League, pointed out that raising the contribution from the state highway fund would reduce the amount of highway aid money available to communities.

Sen. Jerris Leeward, R-Milwaukee, one of the bill's five authors, argued, however, that with auto travel increasing rapidly and railroad mileage decreasing, it is logical that motorists bear a larger share of crossing protection costs.

Byron Ostby, representing the Wisconsin Railroad Association, added that if state highway funds east Asia.

"Training is intelligent, thorough and pointed to the job," Wheeler said Wednesday. "Small and more lives saved. The state combat operations by the dozen are taking place daily throughout the country."

CEF Head Lists Major Problems

Must Convince Parents of Civil Right to Independent Schools

BY JACQUELINE FIX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The major problem of Citizens for Educational Freedom is convincing parents of independent school children that they have a right to ask for a fair share of the tax dollar for their schools, the state president of the group said in an interview Wednesday.

Many are convinced that having the schools is a privilege, said Warren B. O'Connor, Milwaukee. "We deny that. It is a right, and to be a right it cannot have a penalty." The problem is to convince the friends of independent schools that they have a civil right and it takes political action to achieve that right, he said.

O'Connor spoke in Appleton Tuesday and Wednesday nights. New chapters of CEF have been formed in Appleton and Neenah-Menasha, and chapters are being organized in Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and Sheboygan. Other area chapters are established in Green Bay, Manitowoc and Two Rivers. The group has 21 chapters and about 3,400 members in Wisconsin.

Supporters of private schools other than Catholic have supported the CEF stand in Wisconsin but have not joined the group, O'Connor said. In other parts of the country the organization's membership has been interdenominational, he said, and the national chairman and other officials are not Catholics.

Amend Constitution

O'Connor predicted success for the income tax credit bill and the proposal to amend the state constitution to make school bus transportation for private school children constitutional, both to be introduced in this session of the legislature.

The tax credit bill would grant a $40 income tax credit to parents for each independent school child. It will be introduced with Gov. Reynolds, as attorney general, gave a private opinion that the bill was constitutional, he said. It is "a practical and fair way of distributing education tax for the benefit of the child, not the school," he said. The bill would be difficult to test in court because no tax money would actually be used, he added.

O'Connor classes himself as "informal member" of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State. "I am one of the 'other Americans' interested in this," he said. As an informal member, he does not pay dues but attends meetings. POAU is "the most vocal opponent" of the CEF, he said, and "I like to explain our position there."

Not a Front Group

O'Connor denied completely contentions of the POAU and others that CEF is a front group for the Catholic hierarchy. It is a 100 per cent lay group, with no connection with the clergy, he said, and is a "parents grass roots group trying to secure civil rights." The clergy are the natural leaders of the private schools and the group needs their tacit approval, he said, but they are not members.

"I myself have never met with a bishop on CEF matters, and have never solicited their support or cooperation," he declared.

Speaking of the political action of the group, he said it is "not a hatchet organization, but will inform citizens what votes are cast and how they will be affected. We tell what the record is—this is not a hatchet approach."

He claimed that 10 per cent of the group's opponents on the but in Milwaukee the group has school bus bill lost in the November election on that issue, a Democratic legislator, from whom they have gained their chief support in CEF in smaller communities. More political pressure is needed in Milwaukee, O'Connor said, in a Republican area, he said.

Four kinds of sport—all super

Want to make spring come in a hurry? Just pick a new car with whatever you hanker for in performance and sporty trimmings—like bucket seats, 4-speed shift,* lots of horses—and start driving it now. Chevy's got a lot of sport in four entirely different kinds of cars.

First, the Jet-smooth Impala Super Sport with your choice of 7 different engines that range up to 425 hp and that include the popular Turbo-Fire 409* with 340 hp for the ultimate in smooth, responsive driving in modern traffic. Optional equipment, including new Comfortilt steering wheel* that adjusts to your convenience, makes it as super a sport as you'd like.

By way of comparison, such coverage was only $10,800 in the United States and $11,120 in Wisconsin. Total insurance in the county is $320,720,000.

The net monthly income for families in Calumet, Winnebago and Waupaca Counties is $487, $575 and $428, respectively. Total insurance for each county is $60,068,000, $373,777,000 and $91,809,000 respectively.

Stock Market Effect

The sharp rise in the past year has been attributed in part to the setback that occurred in the stock market. Many investors, who had been building up funds for particular purposes, were made more aware of the hazards involved. They began putting more money into insurance and into savings accounts.

Another part of the increase was due to the rapid growth of group life insurance, which is usually job-connected insurance.

More than two out of three non-farm workers are now so-covered.

Linerboard Mill
May be Built in Eastern Canada

MONTREAL—Bathurst Power and Paper Co. said it plans to build a large kraft linerboard mill. The mill will provide for future growth of converting operations and also for "a continued and growing participation in domestic and exports markets," R. A. Irwin, president, announced.

Irwin said the cost of the new mill would be about $40 million to $45 million and it would be located on the Gaspé Peninsula. A final decision is expected soon, he said.

Bathurst Power and Paper in January incorporated a new company, Veneer Products, Ltd., to manufacture hardwood box grade veneer in a plant at Napadogan, New Brunswick, Irwin said.

Production is expected to start there in May and by the end of the year the company expects to be producing at the rate of 5,000,000 board feet a year. Maximum capacity of the plant is about 6,500,000 board feet a year, he said.

Irwin said the decision to produce hardwood box-grade veneer resolves a current problem of securing adequate supplies for present use and future growth.
